Scarsdale High School

Scarsdale, New York

I didn't want to leave fifth grade.

"You'll like the Junior High," they told me.

"You'll make new friends, and you'll have more freedom."

They were right.

I enjoyed the Junior High.

Which was why I didn't want to leave it.

"You'll like the High School," they said.

"You'll be on your own. You'll find out what you really want."

Although the High School can be a world of boring classes,

Of homework never done,

Of teachers screaming, and nights without sleep,

It means all that we enjoy —

Frees spent with friends, food from all over,

Football games, sitting outside, going to parties.

It's whatever you want it to be.

And they were right, again . . .

THE GREAT OUTDOORS

Anyone who has ever sat, bored, in a classroom
Knows that there is life outside the windows:
Students throwing frisbees,
Pretending not to throw them when Frank passes by,
And fishing errant frisbees out of the brook.
The less active students
Congregate at Brewster Road
Where warm days bring hordes of lunchtime sunbathers
To the grassy lawn.

Though snowy Saturdays boast slopefuls of sledders.
Most winter days show barren grounds —
Deserted by students, who only return
On those blizzardlike days when life depends on WFAS,
And snowball fights abound in the parking lot.

It isn't until spring that outdoor school life resumes,
 As students begin to take advantage of this other world.
 And when the warmth finally returns,
 When the teachers are almost tempted to hold class outdoors,
 Students are studying for finals, signing yearbooks,
 And then saying goodbye,
 Before finally gathering outside in the graduation courtyard.

NIGHT LIFE

This year's evening activities started off with a number of parties. There were the small, less-memorable parties which you could leave in time to get the car back by nine, and there was Tony Emerson's open house which lasted the two months that his parents were away.

The year's school events attracted considerable crowds, as many students found that G.O. activities, like the free Starlight Dance, the Frank Foster concert, or the Greaser Dance could be fun if properly prepared. The AFS — Senior Class Spaghetti Dinner was attended by an overwhelming number of elementary school children, whose parents might not have let them go, had the contents of the tomato sauce been known.

All things considered, there were a surprising amount of occasions to remember. Even by the following morning . . .

CLASS LIFE

Most students acknowledge classes for what they truly are: time-wasters between your frees.

Some classes are kept alive by the sight of team-teachers yelling at each other. Some stay exciting if you stare at the second hand of the clock for 49 minutes.

Even if you sit in class wondering about your date this weekend, your date last weekend, the paper you forgot to write last night, or if anyone can tell you forgot to brush your teeth this morning, you might catch on to a few principles. And, once in college, many SHSers realize that they are the only ones there who already know how to write research papers and use the quadratic formula, and life doesn't seem so bad after all.

MAKING MONEY

1. David Meshirer and his 31 friends.
2. Andy Pollock stacks his way to a weekend at Stowe.
3. Eclat's workhorse, Sam Handman.
4. Scarsdale Camera rakes it in with Fred Oltarsh's help.
5. Diana Silver folds socks at Lady Budd.
6. Joe Panessa mans the Mobil pumps.
7. Timmy Allen — pusher.

Sept. 6 — School begins.

Sept. 13 — I discover that I have been cut from soccer, denumerated from the Math Team, and laughed at by the Paddle Tennis Club. I need something to do.

Sept. 20 — A former friend reminds me that I owe him the $15.00 I borrowed in 1976. A quick glance at my wallet reminds me that I owe it some consideration. I need money.

Oct. 13 — An unfortunate occurrence with the car gets me grounded and puts me $200 in the hole. I need something to do and money.

Nov. 1 — I've got it! I need a job. No problem.

Nov. 12 — Tried babysitting. $7.50 for a Friday night of animal husbandry isn't quite what I had in mind.

Nov. 29 — Mowed a lawn two weeks ago. I'm just now able to pick up a pen. There's got to be a better way.

Dec. 14 — Shoveled snow. That wasn't it.

Jan. 7 — Got a job! At Spencer Bookhouse. After school, at $3.00 an hour! It's all paying off. I'm on the receiving end of the counter at last. When I find out how not to fall asleep at 7:00 it'll be perfect. Now, how do I get out of working on Saturdays . . . ?

HANGOUTS

It wasn't until this year that I noticed all the freshmen who spend every free sitting alone in front of their lockers. I then realized that because they have no place to go, no favorite corner, or hangout, but only a locker to call their own, they obviously cling to this one possession.

But after the first year, most students gravitate towards a more social hangout.

I first tried Brewster Road, only to get a complex because I couldn't play guitar, knew nothing of Botany, and had never been to a Grateful Dead concert.

Next I frequented my friends in the library until I got thrown out for adding illustrations to a copy of Macbeth and assumed a new hangout in Mr. Levine's office. Having completed this month of "disciplinary Study Hall," I decided to check out the cafeteria.

After getting caught in the crossfire of two food fights, resulting in permanent tuna fish stains, I found friends with a car and we converged on Lange's Deli for a bagel. Belatedly discovering none of us had any money or a real appetite, I returned to school with time to spare.

I found myself sitting in front of my locker, quietly doing my homework, and thinking maybe freshmen aren't so dumb after all.

GETTING CAUGHT

Because of all the stories I've heard of students cheating on exams, copying homework assignments for poetry class from The Works of Robert Frost, and buying research papers from mail order companies . . . and all the schemes that I heard of to spike the tomato sauce at the spaghetti dinner and to alter teacher grade books before the end of a marking period . . . I can't believe that when, in a desperate rush to make my eight o'clock class, I park my car illegally, and get caught, only to sit here in Frank's office hoping they'll give me back my registration sticker, and wondering what ever happened to "getting away with murder."

A DAY IN THE LIFE

43 days down,
137 to go.

Oops! Failed
another one . . .

Hungry, but afraid to try the pizza.

Five minutes

well.

Mid-afternoon

SUMMER '78

When school was over I thought, "Thank God! Now for a superfantastic summer." Easier said than done.

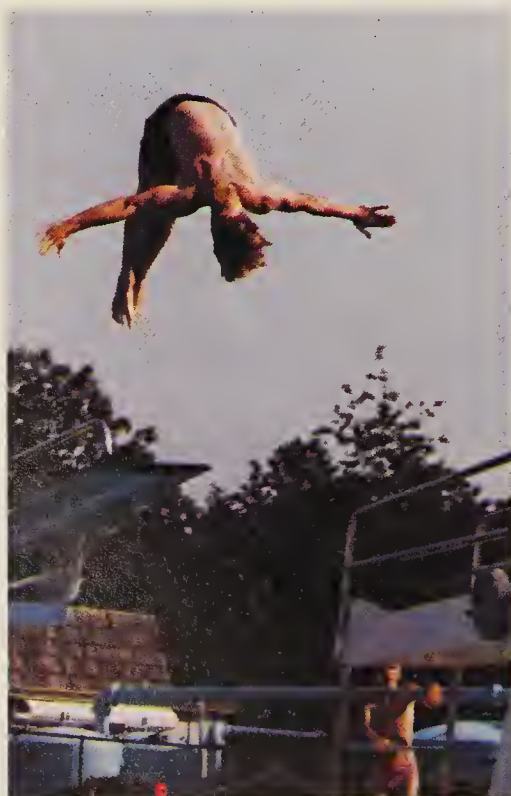

My foremost concern was with getting a job. I mean, I wanted MONEY. Unfortunately, I discovered that others had found jobs two months before school ended. There were none left — even the masochistic jobs at the Scarsdale Day Camp were taken. Facing the prospect of having nothing to do, I headed for the Volunteer Service Bureau, only to learn that all their jobs were in Yorktown or New Jersey.

When I got home, my mother asked me if I wanted to take any of the "various, interesting" courses at summer school, but after a year at work my brain was tired, and I needed a vacation. I ended up playing tennis every day, and sunbathing while reading at the Scarsdale Pool. Whatever else, I got tan and improved my vocabulary.

Luckily, Scarsdale's Summer Music Theatre put on a first-rate production of My Fair Lady. Participating every evening, even if I had to sing in a Cockney accent without any pants on, more than made up for my boring days.

When summer ended, my friends and I shared experiences. Many had fun traveling — mixing with the natives and avoiding parental discipline.

Oh well, there's always next summer . . .

Decline in Homework

The general theme of the world as the decade drew to a close seemed less "enjoy yourself" and more "protect yourself". Escalating costs, conflicts, and rapidly changing Popes all made taking it easy harder in 78-79. The close of the summer saw a newspaper strike of the three major dailies, the Post, Times, and News, which lasted 88 days. Makeshift papers came and went quickly. The City News, Daily Metro, and Daily Press all disappeared by November 5th. But during their run Pope Paul VI died, as did his successor John Paul I — after the shortest term in modern times (33 days), and the revolutionary choice of a young Polish Pope (John Paul II) showed that the church was ready to make changes and keep up with the modern world. Also during the strike, President Carter, Egypt's Anwar Sadat and Israel's Menachem Begin met at Camp David about a peace treaty which after much haggling, was finally signed March 26.

The New York Yankees won their second straight World Series, thanks mainly to the pitching arms of Ron Guidry and Rich "Goose" Gossage. And Scarsdale's own Rich Moser helped Pittsburgh win football's super Bowl. But the fun was only beginning.

San Francisco's Rep. Leo Ryan was in Guyana, investigating a cult led by Rev. Jim Jones, when his entourage was fired upon and Ryan and newsmen were killed. The world was shocked weeks later when the 1000 members of the cult committed suicide with their leader by drinking poisoned Kool-aid. Although people joked about "keeping up with the Joneses," the issue of mindless cult worship became a serious one.

In December, the U.S. "recognized" communist China and "broke ties" with Taiwan. But all this effected were the granting of a soft-drink contract to Coca-Cola in the world's most populous nation, and China's invasion of Vietnam with fear of U.S. criticism.

Iran was in the news for most of the year; a revolution of sorts against the Shah resulted in a leader being appointed by the Shah and supported by the army. This was the Shan's last gasp, however, as Moslems, led by Ayatollah Khomeini, overtook the government. These changes caused the cutoff of Iranian oil to the U.S. Gas prices soared from a sixty-cent plateau to eighty cents in March, with over-a-dollar prices predicted before the summer. Students found it more difficult to get the car from their parents; one teacher predicted the return of "front porch" romances.

'Three's Company'

Movies, records, and television shows hit new highs and lows in 78-79 — respectively:

TV set no worlds on fire, but boasted a small blaze in the instance of ABC's Mork and Mindy, an overnight success due mainly to the talents of Robin Williams, a hot new improvisational comedian. Quality programming made some headway with Paper Chase and Battlestar Galactica, and the "mini-series" established itself as a high-rating vehicle, led by Roots: The Next Generations. Students continued watching NBC's Saturday Night, in its fourth year, which as usual ranged to the extremes in quality and taste in their shows. Hosts included the Rolling Stones, Walter Matthau, Steve Martin, and Elliot Gould. But while the networks were all trying to make vigorous changes to get viewers to turn on, students tended to be turned off.

In the record industry, two stars of Saturday Night, John Belushi and Dan Aykroyd, assembled a band out of SNL's musicians and famous studio talents and put together an album of blues oldies, recorded before Steve Martin concerts in L.A. The "Blues Brothers" shot to #1 on Billboard despite the fact that none of the songs were originals. Also popular during the year was Billy Joel, whose three concerts at Madison Square Garden were sold out in 2 hours, and who had two albums — 52nd Street and The Stranger — in the top 25 for quite a while. More popular around Scarsdale was Bruce Springsteen, who released his first album in 4 years, Darkness on the Edge of Town. Concerts at the Garden and Palladium in August and September reinforced many people's belief that Springsteen is the "Future of Rock and Roll."

Disco continued to be useful for dancing but little else. The Grateful Dead went disco for its Shakedown Street and the Rolling Stones put out probably their best album in their 15 years, Some Girls, containing the most memorable single of the summer, their disco sendup, "Miss You." The Bee Gees continued their disco format on #1 album Spirits Having Flown. Only two new groups really dented the top ten; Boston's The Cars and London's Dire Straits.

The movies became increasingly popular, in spite of the $4 price tag. Scarsdale's Plaza paved even this rocky road, though, by instituting a 99¢ at all times policy in February.

The most expensive movie in history, Superman, budgeted at $38 million, was semi-deliberately corny, and grossed only average amounts, while a back-lot production called Animal House out-grossed most major studio biggies.

Movie-Movie, two 50-minute takeoffs on old "favorites," was a refreshing comedy; Midnight Express, the true story of a boy arrested in Turkey for possession of hashish, was another student favorite among those who enjoyed tension (and occasional disgust).

In March, the film version of Hair came out, as nostalgia for the sixties seemed about to begin with the eighties around the corner. Vietnam had its share of remembrance — The Deer Hunter won much critical acclaim and Academy Award nominations, as did Jon Voight and Jane Fonda in Coming Home; Nick Nolte gave a haunting performance as a Viet. vet in Who'll Stop the Rain?

Other movies of note: The Warriors, a film about gang violence, supposedly spurred on gangs to commit major crimes; Invasion of the Body Snatchers, a well-made remake of an old horror classic, made a statement against growing conformity; Heaven Can Wait, another remake, featured Warren Beatty as director, writer, producer, and star, netting him Academy Award nominations for all.

The uncontested high school rage, though, was National Lampoon's Animal House, featuring a demented but inspired John Belushi. The film, which depicted hedonistic frat life in the 1960's, brought back a fading sense of irresponsibility by popularizing toga parties, food fights, and general enjoyment.

Varsity Football

Varsity Football: ROW 1: J. Kassalow, R. Conn, G. Heinzinger, S. Rofofsky, K. Naughton (Capt.), B. Gevertz, R. McCann, J. Marano, R. Philips, M. Sweeney. ROW 2: W. McCullough, D. Borg, S. Shapiro, D. Levin, T. Boyer (Mgr.), A. Nadel, J. Chai. ROW 5: T. Chapman (Asst.), Coach Henry, N. Kennedy (Asst.).

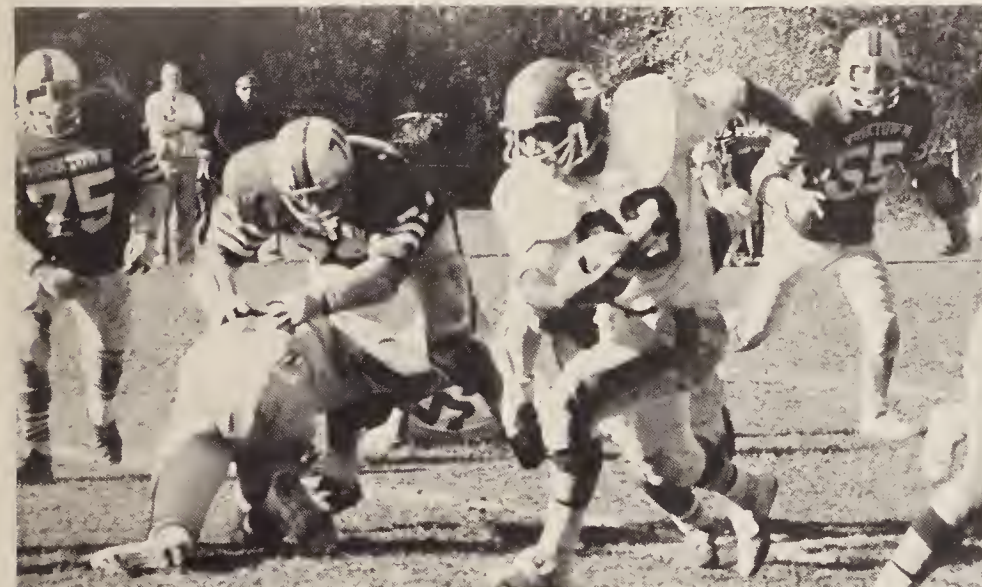

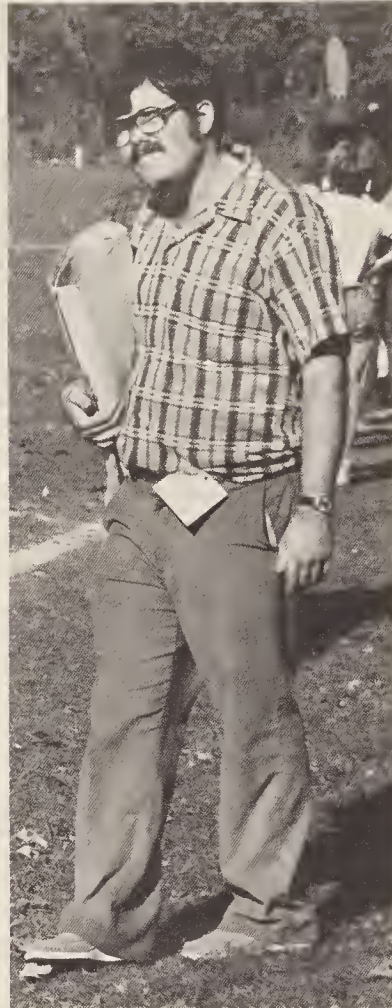

Varsity Football played what can only be described as a "catch up season" in 1978.

With a new coach, Bruce Henry, taking charge, no one was quite sure what the fall's outcome would be. Two disheartening losses, to Ossining and White Plains, seemed to promise a season worth forgetting.

But a 14-12 squeaker over Mahopac, followed by a 14-0 trouncing of Gorton, turned the year around; the Raiders coasted to wins against Yorktown, Saunders, and finally, a sweet upset over last year's adversary — Horace Greeley.

The season's last match-up, a bid for the Conference Bowl game, was a disappointment, though; Scarsdale wound up on the short end of a battle of extra points, losing to Portchester, 15-12, and finishing the year with a respectable 5-3 record.

All-County pick Kevin Naughton captained the squad with outstanding performances as kicker and receiver. Quarterback Dean Silvera piloted the Raider offense, which featured running backs Scott Rofofsky and Rooney Heinzinger, and split end Bo Conn. Defense was led by Joe Marano, Bruce Gevertz and Bob McCann and sophomore Brian Zalaznick and junior Brian McDonald proved versatile on offense, defense, and as punters.

J.V./Frosh Football

J.V. and Freshman Football's year was a remarkable one. For the first time in recent memory, both squads finished the season with winning records.

The junior varsity boasted a successful first-year coach, Ed Fabiani, and a successful record of 4-3-1. Captain Mike Miller called the signals for the Raider offense, including standouts Harry Lipman at fullback and Tim Kelleher and Kurt Vogel at ends. The defense effort was spearheaded by Captain Vernon Broderick and guard Rippy Phillips.

For the first time in Frosh Football history, the 1978 team finished with a winning record. Coach Bob Hendrickson's gridsters ended at 3-2-1; the decisive win coming in the final game, a 14-6 stomping of Ossining. Outstanding for the year were quarterback John Hayslip and his fullback Tommy McPhillips, with eighth-grader Jon Jacobson heading up the defense.

J.V. Football: ROW 1: D. Vaccaro, K. Kelly, T. Leone, M. Miller (co-capt.), V. Broderick (co-capt.), K. Vogel, C. Broderick, H. Lipman. ROW 2: T. Kelleher, E. Graham, J. Abelman, J. Cohn, D. Burkey, T. Gregory, W. Britton. ROW 3: J. Flynn, C. Naughton, M. Kelly, W. McCreery, T. Schnitzler, J. O'Hara. ROW 4: S. Friedlander, P. Green, R. Phillips, D. Winters, M. Munson, K. Smith, G. Galiardi, Coach Fabiani.

Freshman Football: ROW 1: B. Lynch, P. Corrigan, J. Tieri, D. Molloy, D. Bowen, J. Hayslip, G. Kurtz, P. Lin, D. Silver. ROW 2: T. Silvera, Chung Tay, S. Josephson, N. Litwak, J. Korse, M. Philipps, T. Wymbs, R. Gerloff, G. Novick, J. Hartzell, A. Rothschild. ROW 3: Coach Metz, D. Telonis, S. Katzman, S. Forbes, C. Stimpson, J. Jacobson, T. McPhillips, H. Subin, M. Glorieux, T. Allegaert, Coach Hendrickson. Missing: J. Flaherty, K. Read.

Field Hockey

Varsity Field Hockey:

The 1978 Varsity Field Hockey squad, asserted Coach Barbara Bongard, "is one of the best we've had in several years."

Finishing the season with a 7-3-1 record, the Raiders made it to the sectionals, only to lose in a heartbreaking double overtime. Standouts for Scarsdale were Captain Sally Moyer and Most Valuable Player Caroline Evans.

The J.V. year was not as auspicious. Penny Salinger's eleven finished the season 2-5-2. High scorers Renee Raab and Amy Smithline, and aggressive tackler Kim Fitch paced the squad along with co-captains Jane Flynn and Chris Holbrook.

Varsity Soccer

Varsity Soccer: ROW 1: J. Adler (Capt.), D. Lee (Capt.). ROW 2: R. Zilenziger, P. Epstein, J. Taylor, D. Dorsen, P. Herrmann, J. Garland, A. Lazarus, M. Galfund, J. Stamler. ROW 3: E. Zalaznick, M. Riso, R. Hodes, E. Larsen, J. Jacobson, A. Jordan, M. Trauner, R. Williams, S. Jones, W. Robbins, Coach Ulman, J. Sonders (mgr).

Varsity Soccer continued to win this year. A 12-4-3 record, insured the usual sectional placement; a 3-2 overtime loss to Mamaroneck though, ended the season in the opening round. The squad played well as a team; Coach George Ulman chalked up a personal milestone with his 200th career win. With the advent of an undefeated J.V., there should be no problem next year.

The Raiders can only thank AFS, Denmark, and Mrs. Larsen for much of the year's success — in the form of Danish exchange student Erik Larsen. Larsen and co-captain Duncan Lee accounted for 43 of 57 goals scored on the season; both forwards made All-League and All-County teams. In the All-County East-West game, West's 4-0 victory was the work of Lee's three goals and Larsen's one.

Fullback Russell Williams, and halfback Scott Jones qualified for All-League honors. Defensive standouts also included fullback Mark Riso and goalie Robert Hodes.

J.V./Frosh Soccer

And if you thought the Varsity was good . . . The J.V. and the Freshmen squads both made it through the year without a single loss, wiping up opposition in their respective leagues.

The J.V. Raiders finished a 15-0 season, scoring sixty-seven goals to their opponents' one. No team in the county even touched Coach Zayac's booters, led by high-scoring forward David McCabe and goalie Tim Kazi.

Although it was rumored that Coach Skladanuk was trying to build up next year's Frosh team by taking on five 8th-graders, the freshmen squad finished with a 9-0-1 record, and fielded enough players to have two extra "off-the-record" quarters each game. High scorer Stephen Raab led a quick offense, backed by one of the strongest defenses in the league. Greg Fisher and Jamie Mattikow aggressively attacked anything that moved nearby.

Girls' Soccer

The 1978 Girls' Soccer team didn't quite have your average first-year performance. First-year teams don't usually finish the season with records of 11-0-1.

They don't often beat Westchester's defending champion squad, Horace Greeley, twice in a row; nor do they tie a team with a four-year record of 56-1, as they did Clarkstown North.

The squad, headed by leading scorer Alison Agre, Kiki Johnson, and goalie Lauren Bisk, only allowed 2 opposing goals all season. Coach Art Resnick and the whole team showed experience that they couldn't possibly have.

Girls' Cross Country

Coach Pattie Gray's varsity harriers, led by Robin Winter and Cathy Owen, ended their season this year as Conference A champions, and third in Section One with a record of 4-1. The J.V. Cross-country team finished as Division, Conference, and Section champion; they were never beaten in either individual competition or in dual meets, where their record was 5-0.

Girls' Cross Country: ROW 1: R. Winter, P. Duncan, C. Owen (capt.), M. Kass, L. Cherbuliez, K. Shulman. ROW 2: N. Ellis, V. Moss, A. Fallon, L. Blumstein, N. Donohue, K. Unsworth, S. Fateh, M. The Scarsdale Boys' Cross Country squad finished another successful season, with the promise of one of the best teams in history next year.

Dual team meet record was an impressive 8-1. The new "flight race" style, implemented by Coach Swanson in invitational meets, paid off as the Raiders won two invitationals and captured either second or third in three others. In the Conference A championships, Scarsdale finished second, behind Mt. Vernon; in the Section I finals, the harriers were third behind only Mt. Vernon and Arlington.

The squad was marked by outstanding individual performances. Captain Phil Shapiro won all-County honors, and an alternate's position in the State Championships. Junior Mark Metz took seventh place at the Conference A meet and ninth place at the Section I meet, winning All-Conference and All-County honors respectively. The individual awards, though, went to junior John Sullivan. Sullivan won the prestigious Eastern State meet on Oct. 28. He finished sixth at Conference A and at Section I, to share All-Conference and All-County distinction. With Metz, he competed in the State Championships at Poughkeepsie, where he finished a notable twenty-eighth.

Tri-captains Sullivan, Metz, and Harley Erdman are three of the five returning letterman on next year's squad, which, assures Captain Shapiro, will be "one of the best ever."

The Scarsdale girls' volleyball team, coached by Louise Black, enjoyed a standout year. Laurie Carver, Sandy Frank, and Phyllis Strong led the way to a 10-4 record.

Excellent games against Yorktown and Horace Greeley heightened a season marked by all-around good feeling. Post-season play ended in the sectional competition, though, with a loss to rival Greeley.

Boys' Varsity Basketball

ROW 1: S. Binder, H. Johnson, R. Catania, W. Haskel, M. Zucker, P. Mabie, D. Lopp. ROW 2: Asst. Coach Hendricks, T. Reilly, B. McDonald, T. Emerson, J. Revelli, J. Bronner, E. Graves, K. Naughton, Coach Kaminer. MISSING: M. Cerniglia (mgr.), T. Boyer (mgr.).

Seldom does a school find itself handed the chance to unify its student body and give to all a sense of pride. The varsity basketball squad was more than just the most successful ever — it was fun to watch and gave students a reason to brag, not flinch, at the mention of the word "Scarsdale."

Everything went right in 1979. Second-year coach Jack Kaminer and squad put it all together for the best season in Scarsdale history.

The Raiders rolled up victory after victory in season play, finishing with a record of 15-1 and ranked fifth in the State. The lone loss came at the hands of first-rated Mount Vernon in a heart-stopping 45-37 thriller on Feb. 15.

Post-season play began with Section 1 competition at the Westchester County Center; Scarsdale's screaming hordes accompanied their champions to each contest, where thunderous "Here we go Raiders, here we go!" and "You!You!You!You!"s helped the team make the finals for the first time ever. It squeezed by Poughkeepsie, 60-59, to capture the Section crown.

The Southeastern N.Y. State series loomed next, and the Raiders first tangled with second-ranked Bellport of Long Island. Utilizing a slow-down offense which exasperated both the opponents and the crowd, Scarsdale paved the way to better times in a thrilling, last-second 30-29 victory. The finals were an anti-climax, as Kaminer's hoopsters disposed of Westbury at the Nassau Community College arena, and headed to Rochester for State finals.

As Scarsdalian from all walks of life sat glued to radios tuned to WFAS and as a faithful few dozen watched, the Raiders demolished Elmira, 61-44, and reached the finals of the State championships.

Of course, nobody's perfect. While Scarsdale dominated Lackawanna of Erie County throughout the match, 12 missed foul shots in a row, through three overtimes, cost them the first-place trophy. The most spectacular season enjoyed by Scarsdale ended abruptly, soberingly, but the varsity squad members were the heroes of the year.

Depth and experience were major factors behind the team's success. High scorer and rebounder, 6'7" junior John Revelli and senior captain and defensive bulldog Kevin Naughton were three-year veterans, while Tom Reilly, Butch Graves, Bill Haskel, and Tony Emerson returned as lettermen. First-year surprises weren't lacking, however, as starter Jim Bronner and reserve Mike Zucker helped key the Raider attack.

The team finished as Section 1 and S.E. Conference champs, and State runners-up. Kaminer was named Coach of the Year in a poll of his peers. Revelli was selected to the first All-State team, and Graves to the seventh; Revelli, Graves, and Reilly were all starters on the all-county contingent.

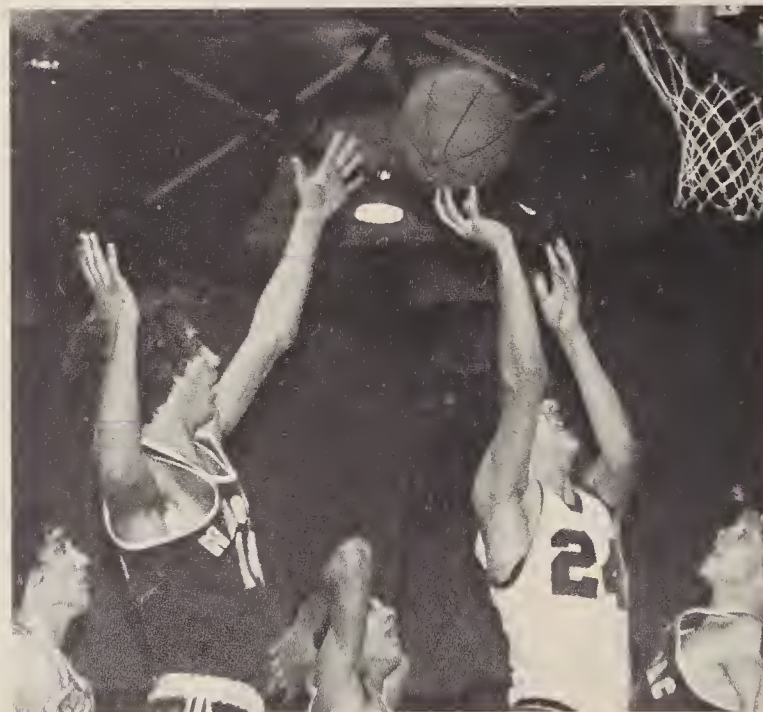

For all who awoke hoarse the morning after a basketball game and all those who covered their ears from the well-deserved cheering, Kaminer and Co. deserve a world of thanks.

The female Raiders, rebounding from last year's disappointing outcome, ended 1979 with what Coach Art Resnick called "their finest season ever." The team, led by Captains Melanie Cane, Lauren Bisk, and Allison Agre, featured few star performances — all victories were the efforts of a balanced team. The highlights of the season included defeating Gorton and Mamaroneck, the fourth and second ranked teams in the county. Resnick predicts an "even better team" next year with the returning junior line-up of Agre, Bisk, Claudia Jaul, Christie Leone and Leslie Brokaw.

Indoor Track

Boys' Indoor Track registered another big season in the winter of 1978-9. A strong running squad paced the way to some major accomplishments in the larger meets.

Notwithstanding a below-average showing in one dual and one triangular meet, coach Tony Pierantozzi's harriers took advantage of the bigger match format to highlight individual and team feats.

Captain Troy Engle highlighted the season with an outstanding performance on January 19 at West Point, setting a new natural high school record for the indoor 1600 meter walk. At all such matches, also, the Raider middle distance runners fared well; the two-mile relay and distance medley placed consistently, with junior John Sullivan pacing the harriers in the mile run. In the field competition, lack of experience prevailed, with two bright spots: Reggie Bacic's high jumping, and Andy Vaneck's school record in the triple jump.

Although this year's squad was plagued by illness, the ranks won't grow much thinner in 1980; junior Sullivan, sophomore two-mile Tom Nugent, and junior Tim Lopez will return to lead a young team.

The Girls' Track, both in terms of individual and team performances, had one of its finest seasons ever. The combined efforts usually placed the squad first or second in major competitions, and it won a triangular meet with Croton and Yorktown handily.

Individually, captain Robin Winter highlighted a troupe of achievers. The veteran senior looked to return to the State competition in the mile, and set a County Center record in the 1000-yard run. Senior Sally Cashen, undefeated in middle distance events, set school records in the 1000-yard, the 600-yard, and the 40-yard hurdles. Kathy Carney set a Raider mark in the Two-Mile Run. In field events, the standout was junior Jodi Last, who continued her three-year habit of winning the high jump.

The team pride, though, was the 2-mile relay squad of Winter, Cashen, Madeline Kass, and Kelly Unsworth. With a month left, they were within six seconds of a New York State Record, and undefeated in competition.

ROW 1: V. Percopo, T. Suslow, J. Miller, R. Hans, L. Cherbuliez, J. Penson, H. Iglic, E. Ore, E. Neschis, R. Winter (capt.), A. Pegg, L. Pack, A. Glassner, Coach Blessing. RIFLERY: ROW 1: S. Alter, G. Galiardi, E. Vanecek. ROW 2: M. Sackson, R. Englander (capt.), C. Vatai, R. Broomer, K. Oestreich, I. Rossum, Coach Weber. MISSING: J. Greenberg, G.O. Pforzheimer.

Richard Weber's riflery squad had a fair year, not quite living up to last year's high expectations. Captain Bobby Englander shot brilliantly, as did his junior co-hort Ken Oestreich. Juniors Jimmy Greenberg and Gary Pforzheimer showed much promise for next year's team, which will hopefully beat this year's record. But do not be too quick to criticize the riflers. Many have access to guns and could become very dangerous if annoyed.

Wrestling

Although the Scarsdale Wrestlers ended the year with a disappointing record, individual improvement and strength from younger team members promise better future seasons. "This year, as in recent years," stated co-captain Steve Schwab, "we lacked heavy weights, and had to forfeit many matches." Despite the points lost in the heavy weight classes, the team scored well in individual competition. At the Fox Lane tournament, co-captain Steve Schwab took first place in the 148 pound class, and both co-captain John Dunne, and senior Alon Aharon placed fourth in their classes.

With new coach, Joe Mongarella, and first year wrestlers from the Junior High and freshmen class, the '79 season proved to be a building year for the wrestlers who will undoubtedly improve in the coming seasons.

WRESTLING: ROW 1: A. Hilford, D. Molloy, D. Schreiber, T. Miller, K. Schneider, P. Seirafi. ROW 2: T. Savone, R. Martin, T. Gordon, J. Dunne, K. Gutwillig, R. Cannon, G. Bartalos, S. Schneider. As the '78-'79 season drew to a close, the Raiders' Hockey contingent remained unbeaten, with an outstanding 17-0-1 record in league play. The continual Scarsdale success can be attributed to both a powerful offense and a potent defense.

In a ridiculous show of strength, the Raider front line was composed of the league's 1st, 3rd, 4th and 5th leading scorers — Steve Gordon, David Berkey, Captain Lee Gunst, and Kevin Desantis, respectively.

The Raider defense, like the offense, was rated as the best in the Yonkers League. Headed by Gunst, Andy Palmer, and Andy Lazarus, the defense supported goalkeepers Glen Desantis and Mike Feicco in keeping opposition to under one goal per game.

The Raiders coasted through the playoffs, led by series MVP Kevin Desantis. Gunst was named league MVP, and Glenn Desantis, Best Goalie.

Gymnastics

Although the girls' gymnasts, led by captain Ruth Burtman, suffered many close but disappointing losses, the team improved considerably. The Raiderettes excelled most in individual competition, as four team members qualified for the divisional meet. Although lacking depth on the uneven parallel bars, the team performed consistently in the floor exercise and vaulting events. With added strength on the balance beam, coach Patty Gray feels the young team will compensate for the loss of last year's seniors and have better seasons in the future.

ABC correspondent Ernie Anastos visited with students at Scarsdale on January 30th, filming a documentary on teenagers in America. Preliminary findings were discouraging.

Santa Kelleher gave us a brand new auditorium. Mr. Levine gave us the same old xxxx.

On January 26, Scarsdale teachers tried in vain to play basketball against a team of major-league baseball players. New York Yankee Paul Blair signed autographs when he wasn't dribbling.

"Please, Dr. Sobol — give us a raise. We're tired of buying our clothes at Mays . . ."

Friday, January 26 was Greaser Day, as the 50's came somewhat alive at Scarsdale High School. Authentic (?) costumes and a live band in the cafeteria made the last day of the semester a celebration.

Guys greased, girls grinned, and couples started out on the right foot. Claire Cerni had a ball, and Jeff Gardner proved that there was more than one yo-yo in the school.

Scarsdale's baseball players used to be known as the jocks who mumble when you ask them what team they're on. But Coach Bob Caie changed all that this year by implementing a vigorous training program starting as early as the end of last season. Leading the way for the Raiders were co-captains Bruce Marshall, who pitched a no-hitter against New Rochelle, and Scott Rofofsky, who appeared to opponents as a wall both at and behind the plate. Mark Riso led in RBI's and Juniors Evan Lambert and Mike Miller bolstered the pitching staff. What the team did not achieve athletically, it more than made up financially. The team sponsored a Jog-A-Thon and a basketball game between high school teachers and major league baseball players. These two events alone raised over two thousand dollars, paying for trips to Virginia and Philadelphia, in addition to a pitching machine and batting tunnels allowing the team to practice during the winter.

Everyone knows that  $2+2=4$ , but who on earth can calculate sine of  $(3 - \ln 6\frac{1}{4})$ ? And who cares? The math department does, and it is their problem to cure this severe student apathy.

To many students, math is like a foreign language. After all, the words "logarithm," "integral," "hyperbola," and "cosecant" mean very little, if anything, to the average 9th grader.

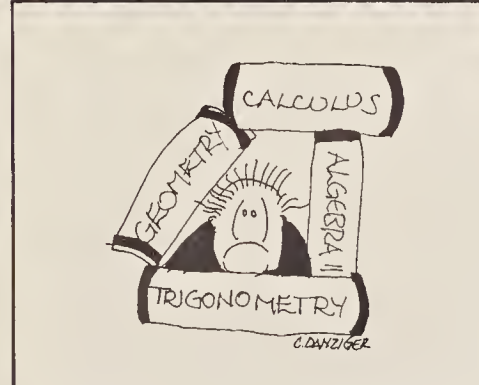

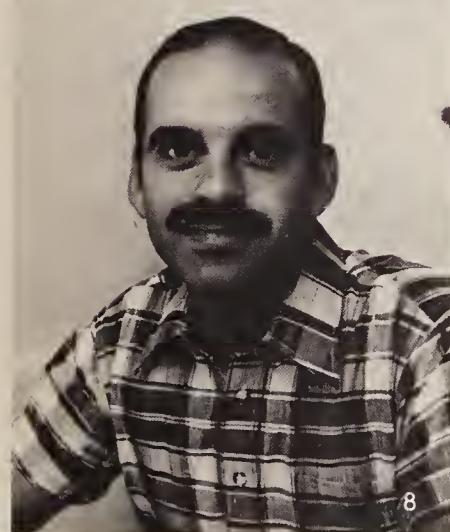

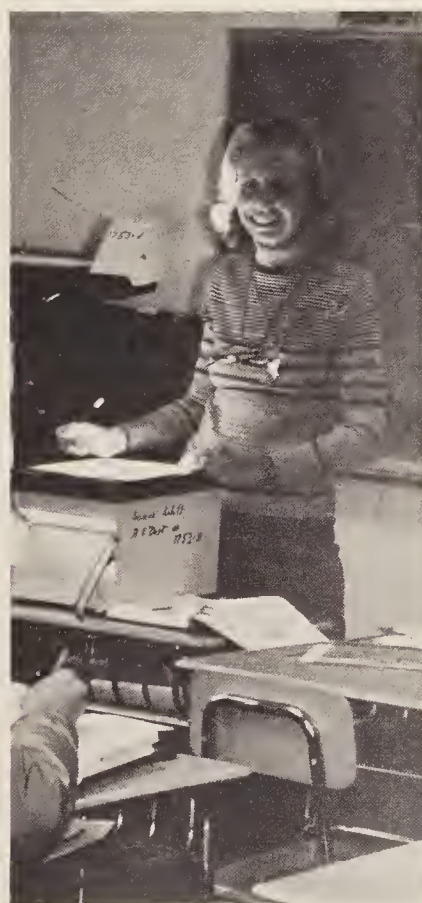

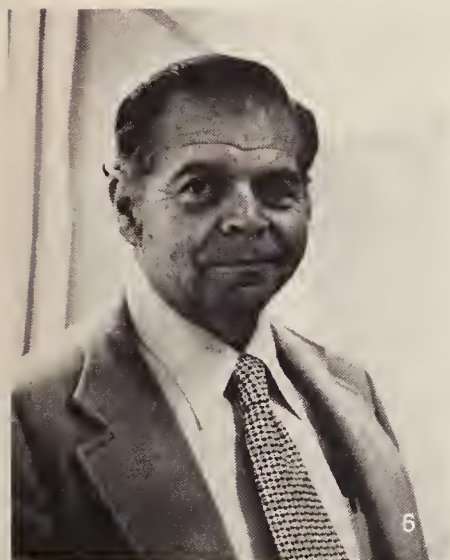

The math department understands this well. It is its job to make sure that, when graduation comes, the student is capable of calculations whose only practical purpose is to enable them to take more math.

Social studies has undergone many changes in recent years. World Civ I became Western Civ II. World Civ II became Western Civ I. But European and American History A.P. both remain impossible. The department tries to branch out from traditional learning tracks, as evidenced by such popular courses as Law Enforcement, Woman's Studies, and Constitutional Law for Library Hermits. The faculty members attempt to keep up with the times, also. Some now promote racism. Some punctuate sentences with "Grant's Tomb." One sports a beard, and one gave up halfway. Whether it is the result of change or not, Scarsdale students acquire political awareness and have to thank someone.

Thesis: The High School English Department will stop at nothing in its quest for a literary student.

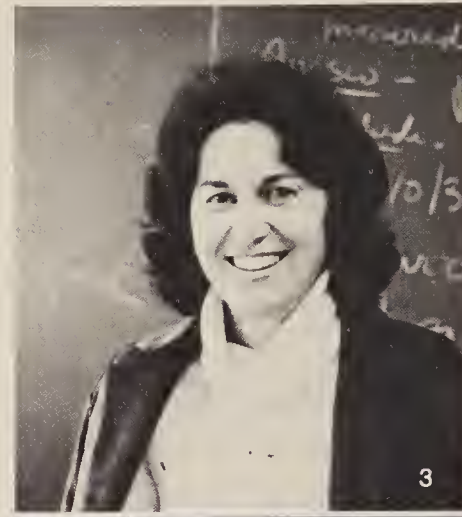

- I. They begin by plying one with useless words.
  - A. animadversion
  - B. expiate
  - C. parsimonious
- II. Passive voice can't be used by a student, and a preposition isn't good to end a sentence with.
- III. Eventually, he has to learn to outline, then to exposit, then finally to write an (ugh) Research Paper.
  - A. pain
  - B. anguish
  - C. plagiarism
- IV. If all else fails, the Department utilizes the most fearsome terrorist tactics known to man.

You can't get by on English alone these days. Words like "frito," "borscht" and "Pierre Cardin" have become common ones.

Headed by Dr. Althea Mantz, the Foreign Language Department realizes the necessity of being bi-, or even trilingual. Maybe that is why they won't say "hello" to you in the hall . . . just "bonjour", "hola" or "stras-vidyeh."

Whether you start with Earth Science or Chemistry it's all the same: a department filled with teachers insisting on obscure units of measure because "we will be switching over to metric any day now."

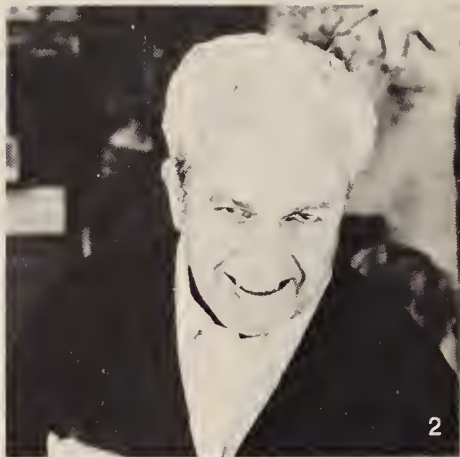

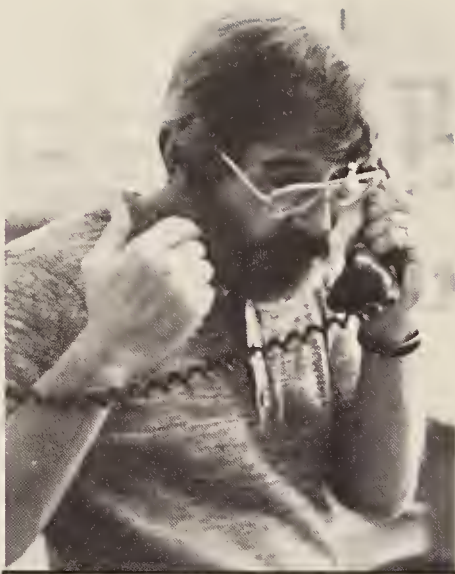

Trying to change a grade or make up a lab can be tough — some students who are unwilling to join the cross country team to run after their teachers end their science careers before reaching Chemistry. But for those who decide to continue their studies, with the incentive of dissecting rats and analyzing human parts, the competition of getting into advanced classes can be stiff.

When a student is rejected for a Bio A.P. class, in favor of a freshman who already understands the structure of the Double Helix, he must retreat into a Project Physics class, explore the shadowy world of Meteorology, or perhaps even the ultimate paradox of advanced Earth Science.

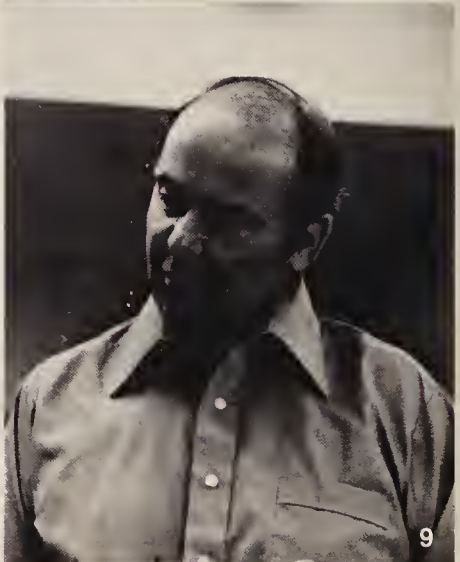

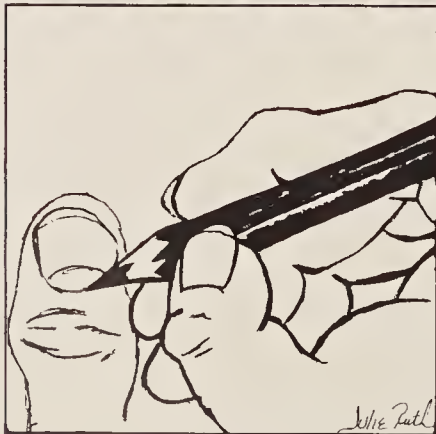

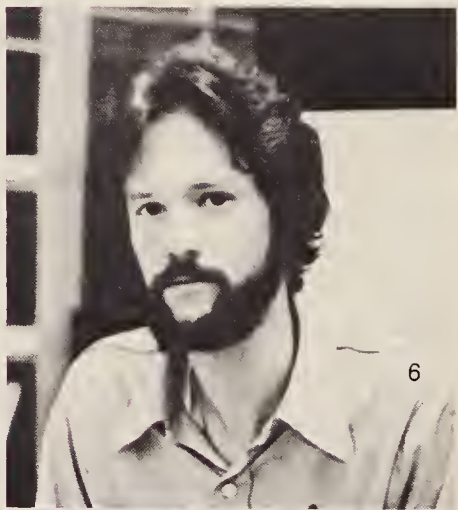

While the only thing that keeps him going is the thought that maybe if they do switch over to the metric system, his years of High School science would not go to waste.

FRESHMEN

Being a freshman is fine if you know how to handle it. After the usual ratings by upperclassmen — “They get shorter every year” — and getting accustomed to walking to the bus stop before sunrise, I slowly learned what it means to be a high school student. The possibilities are endless: playing on teams, no longer separated by where you went to elementary school, joining clubs, dropping clubs, learning more on weekends than in class . . . The weight of the world is nowhere near my shoulders. I’m having a good time, and I have the Freshman Advantage — “I’ll Worry About It Later.”

ROW 1: L. Avellino, D. Gregory. ROW 2: G. Cavalli, D. Blau, S. Klein, E. Pascal, K. Smith, E. Platt, L. Evans. ROW 3: S. Broomer.

First period the freshman has a free, but has to come to school at 8:15, too late to catch his friends on their way to classes, and too early to think about homework. He enters the library to catch up on his reading, and finds the place quite empty. Instead of opening Julius Caesar he learns about life from the graffiti on the walls of the carrels.

ROW 1: M. Yeaker, M. Tomback, E. Reynolds, A. Rozycki, E. Vanecek, J. Johnson, G. Novick, G. Lopp, R. Dweck. ROW 2: D. Cantor, J. Mattikow, S. Samuels, S. Wagner, P. Stern, D. Bowen, M. Beyl, J. Allen, S. Olivieri, T. Miller, P. Corrigan, T. Suslow, S. Cohen, S. Bank, D. Beer.

ROW 1: K. Smith, C. Haasen, P. Buchthal, R. Simon, C. Blume, E. Holliday. ROW 2: M. Siegel, M. Flynn, P. Santos, A. Lazzara, G. Hong.

ROW 1: K. O'Neill, S. Danziger, J. Citron, T. Hardy, D. Aronson. ROW 2: J. Jacobs, E. Leerburger, K. Nach, R. Miller, S. Godfried, J. Flaks. ROW 3: J. Moscou, A. Rothschild, E. Kelly, T. Assatly, D. Hill, M. Menell, G. Fishbein.

First period ends, and he rushes to his locker for his books. He reaches English class and takes his place at the front of the room. He gives the teacher the 'undivided attention' Mr. Levine had lectured about, and answers the questions — not yet conscious of the college recommendations he is earning.

LEFT TO RIGHT: T. Caffrey, S. Friedland, G. Blum, M. Bloom, C. Soling, A. Barnstead, L. Doan, J. Sabater, S. Albert, J. Sobel.

ROW 1: M. Shaps, L. Wimpfheimer, D. Salles.
ROW 2: S. Solomon, C. Stimpson, W. Walker, R. Shedlin.

ROW 1: S. Epstein, M. Shigematsu, I. Bernstein, J. Frankel. ROW 2: P. Stamler, I. Koch, R. Hudgins, C. Verna, L. Brenner, C. Schroeder. ROW 3: K. DeSantis, M. Wasser, A. Felner, A. Rader, N. Weintraub, D. Handelman.

ROW 1: E. Walker, S. Schweitzer, A. Gusman, C. Hibbard. ROW 2: J. Kalick, C. Richter, S. Ross, W. Kolber. ROW 3: W. Zeller, J. Friedberg. ROW 4: S. Rudy, R. Gerloff, E. Kravitz.

After English he proceeds to social studies, where he draws a detailed map of South Africa in his notes, only to find a full atlas in the back of his text. To the surprise of his teacher, he hands in his paper three days early. Well, what else is there to do besides homework at night?

ROW 1: E. Walker, R. Simon, J. Cruickshank. ROW 2: K. Smith, J. Leistensnider, S. Stern, M. Lyons, M. Karp, D. Leeds, C. Weisman. ROW 3: J. Schnier.

ROW 1: M. Hanly, J. Kim, N. Perry, T. Wymbs, V. Percopo, A. Gobes, G. Glickman, ROW 2: K. Novak, L. Weinberger, D. Markowitz, E. Heeren, I. Roth, R. Burrows, D. Visaggi.

ROW 1: E. Murphy, C. Clark, C. Kelleher, C. Kuttner, J. Gerber, S. Kaplan, N. Reinitz, P. Sloate. ROW 2: J. Certilman, A. Gaynor, R. Osborn, P. McCaw, R. Loughran, M. Leslie, S. Goldstein.

The morning starts to drag with fourth period. Math is starting to become all letters. But it's made fun when the teacher pops a surprise quiz — the student knows he'll do well: he not only studied his notes and the text, but also took out "Basic Algebra" from the White Plains Library on his father's card.

Lunchtime. He treks through the hallways full of people going out to lunch or an eating place that everybody else knows about. He hits the cafeteria — some friends have reserved a seat for him by placing a stale cupcake on it. He trots off to homeroom, painfully aware of his derriere au chocolat. Everyone sits in assigned seats as the teacher reads announcements of oblique clubs. What is an Equus? Does the Bridge club build bridges?

Fifth period is Freshman Seminar. The dean tells him things he learned the first day — room 160 is above 60 and below 260. G.O. cards are excellent, even though he doesn't go shopping. The day is saved when some seniors show up to explain their clubs. They seem to enjoy themselves — maybe school isn't just doing homework . . .

Sixth period. Class suddenly isn't interesting. After making up all the dirty looking French words possible, he resigns himself to alternately counting the tiles in the ceiling and going on with his math homework. As the teacher screams about the obvious difference between past perfect and imperfect, the bell rings. School's out!

Unfortunately, the bus at 2:00 leaves without waiting for students who have to go to their lockers first. He runs the whole way only to see the yellow monsters passing over the safety bumps and continuing out to civilization. He finds a friend and they talk under the trees. If only classes could be held out here. A pack of tracksters jogs by. Maybe next season he'll try out for a team . . .

SOPHOMORES

LITERATURE

We sophomores are unfairly burdened with the heaviest of schedules; and starting out with three more years to go, I felt there was no end in sight. Who would talk to someone who still eats his lunch in the cafeteria? Then I started to branch out. Upperclassmen started taking me seriously, and weekends became more than just babysitting and homework. By spring, some friends could even drive. Although I still doubt I'll ever make varsity, sometimes I think I never had it so good — and the best is just around the corner.

ROW 1: C. Griffin, D. Cantor, C. Migliaccio, E. Heimowitz. ROW 2: B. Wu, R. Lopes, M. McGee, R. Ozols, D. Kaplan, J. Gugick.

He walks into class five minutes late, still panting, after having to run from the ground floor to the third. "Oh my God!" he thinks to himself, remembering he left his Amsco next to the Cornflakes. Desperately he searches for the words in Spanish to ask to go to the bathroom. Watching the hands move so slowly on the clock is the only thing that keeps him awake. Bell!

Now she assigns the homework.

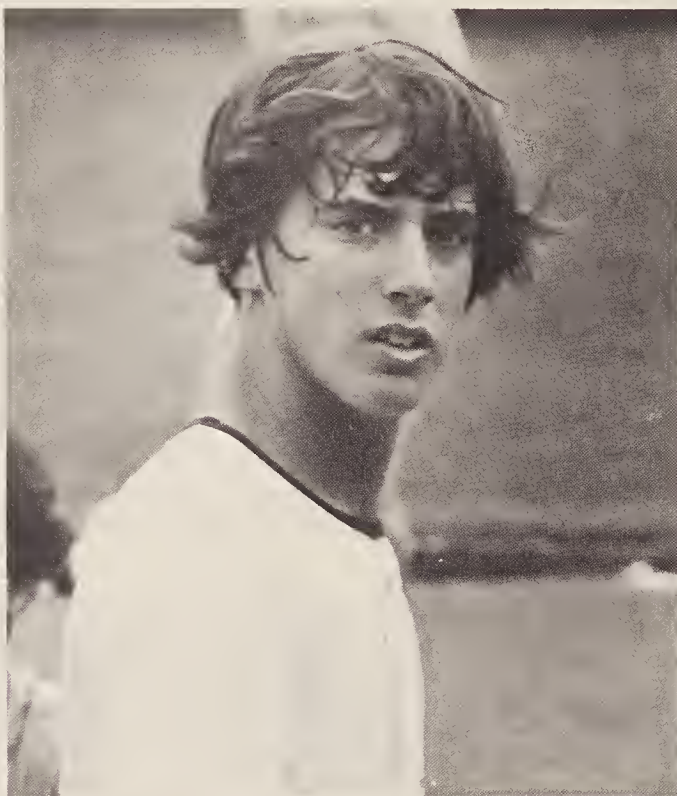

ROW 1: D. Alvarez, S. Bartol, C. Defendi, J. Hodaba, J. Carr, D. Vaccaro.

He runs down to Bio, praying that there won't be another quiz,
Doesn't the teacher realize that no one listens to those lectures?
And when will they ever get a chance to use the 50 pound Bio book he's dragged around all year?
To finish the lab in time is an impossibility . . . is "mitochondria" a disease?

He walks to English, saying hello to the upperclassmen in the hall —
 how have they survived so long?
 His mind isn't ready for English.
 "Gatsby doesn't have a purpose."
 Neither did any other character in the books they read this year.
 "Paper tomorrow?"
 He hasn't even read the book. "Mork and Mindy" is on tonight, too.
 Passing notes, drawing pictures (he can't draw), sometimes listening to the teacher.
 Wait! The clock has stopped!
 No — it's just his brain.

ROW 1: C. Rusk, G. Zipf, P. Chang, A. Chien. ROW 2: B. Feldman, K. Oberhelman, V. Broderick. ROW 3: L. Kao, S. Stern, N. Furman.

Time to go to World Civ.
It's cancelled?
But the poor soph. was up all night with that stupid paper.
Well, at least he has a free and he can go do something constructive.

ROW 1: C. Defendi, A. Henry, L. Stewart, L. Neschis, R. Sweeney. ROW 2: L. Attia, K. Kretschmann, M. Kitamura, M. Panke, G. Tommasi, B. O'Riordan, P. Gilbert, P. Feinberg, C. Olivari, B. Roth.

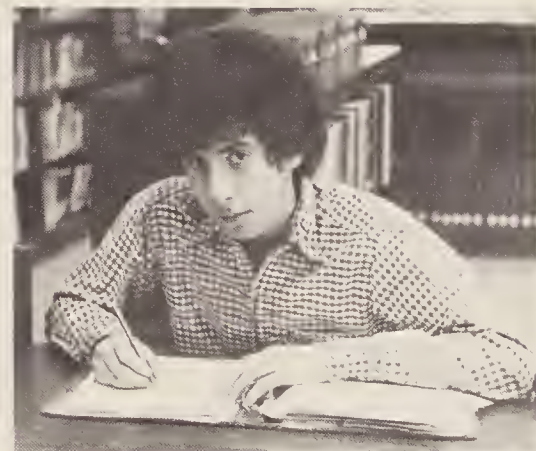

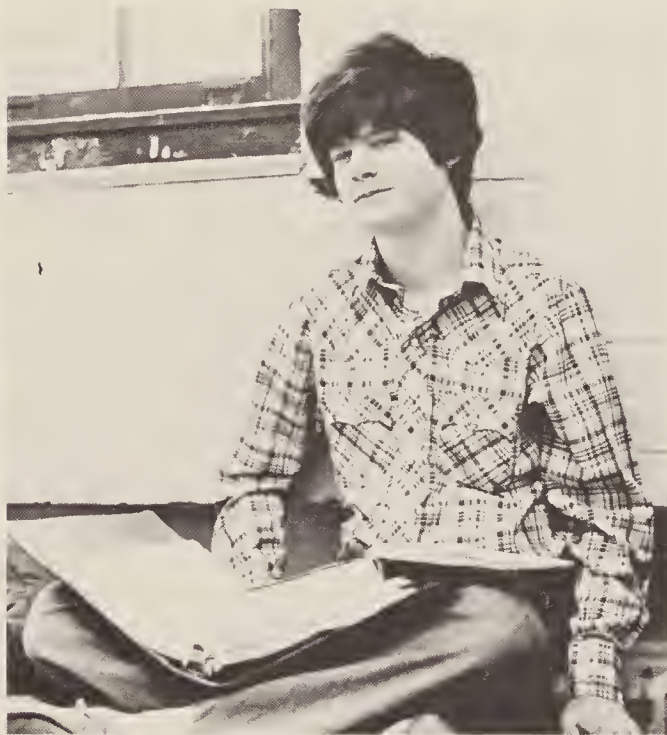

He always seems to get tunafish.
 Where to eat?
 Anywhere he goes he gets hit by a frosh that's being beaten up.
 He'll be cool and eat in the hall, and get hit by a frisbee.
 And then right in the middle of his Twinkee . . .
 Bell!
 He ponders over why his favorite period is the shortest.

Time for typing.
 Borrowing paper, borrowing correct-type, the only thing he doesn't borrow is the typewriter.
 A-A-A space, S-S-S space.
 He's going crazy.
 The only case history of typing failure.

ROW 1: S. Waxenberg, E. Polin, L. Nusbaum, K. Bloom, G. Donati. ROW 2: D. Weltz, M. Seymour, W. Mark, D. Sullivan, G. Galiardi, N. Cherbuliez, J. Kotler, L. Hayslip, R. Friedman, N. Maddalena, K. Shulman.

ROW 1: D. Nadelmann. ROW 2: A. Henry, W. Carver, E. Barshop, J. Honomichl.

He runs to math, trying to keep theorems straight in his mind.
 If side A is equal to side B,
 but line X is not parallel to line Y,
 are the triangles congruent?
 Why can't he just use a ruler?

ROW 1: M. Brock, J. Haidt, S. Grant, Lisa Nusbaum, J. Golub, J. Langsam. ROW 2: J. Milton, L. Tarshis, C. Santangelo, L. McCann, A. Dweck, A. Sher, Lynn Nusbaum, N. Shaw, N. Serman. ROW 3: I. Olson, A. Baron, L. Fields, P. Bauersfeld, B. Nusbaum, J. Ades. ROW 4: S. Friedlander, P. Green.

He's too tired to run back to his locker, but he has to catch that bus Will he ever get his license? How come he always has to take home more books than anyone else? As he walks the mile from the bus stop to his house, the idea of homework is decidedly unappealing. "There are good days ahead," he repeats, and falls asleep in front of the 4:30 Movie.

JUNIORS

Sometime between our orientation and graduation, we undergo radical changes in small periods of time: in short, we become juniors. The E.A. suddenly has to concentrate on G.P.A. and S.A.T.'s. All of us who haven't yet chosen "respectable" after-school activities find out about real competition — for editorships, presidencies, and captainships. My friends speculate on who will nudge out whom for the Ivies.

But just as I work hard, I get to play in direct proportion. My winning my senior license made my parents almost strangers. My junior experience was filled with good-natured carousing and partying and gave a sweet taste to the word "upperclassman."

First period gym? Doesn't that just show the irony of life . . . you get up in the morning, all tired and sweaty, you take a shower to go to school clean and fresh. Then first thing, you have gym and get all tired and sweaty again. Well, our typical Scarsdale High Junior is not exactly in the mood for platform tennis this morning. And since he is not prepared for English, he feels it is his right, if not his obligation, to cut gym. So he goes to the library, equipped with his Othello, and starts analyzing the character traits of Iago. By the end of the period, he is convinced that nothing is more boring than Shakespeare — not even gym.

Physics means doodling contest time. Today's challenge: who can draw a better doodle out of the word "Kinematics." Everything is going well until he hears the teacher call his name. He cringes. The class laughs. His doodling opponent snickers. He has been volunteered! Totally frantic, he makes his way to the board, knowing very well that he will make a complete fool of himself. The question: How much momentum is obtained by a flying saucer, mass 34 kg, at a velocity of 3 m/s? His mind becomes a blur of equations — velocity equals time divided by . . . But alas, he cannot remember the right equation. On the verge of hysteria, he hears a marvelous sound. He heaves a sigh of relief . . . saved by the bell.

ROW 1: S. Kitagawa, C. Low, N. Hantscho, A. Ungar, M. Leerburger, A. Berdon, J. Hendricks, C. Tsuyuki.
ROW 2: J. Pomerance, J. Pollock, D. Palmer, A. Roth, D. Goebel, D. Berkey, C. Haasen, S. Binder, P. Wahl.

ROW 2: A. Clark, A. Dumke, L. Silver, M. Vanhorne, R. San Martin, J. Albin.

After Physics, he trudges on to Math. As much as he hates it, he feels that he must pay attention, since he will be taking the S.A.T.'s in a few months and his parents threatened to disown him if he doesn't raise his P.S.A.T. scores. When the teacher starts deriving the Pythagorean Theorem for the third time, though, our Junior decides that what his parents don't know can't hurt him. When the teacher subtracts  $a^2$  from  $b^2$ , and asks, "What's the difference?" he agrees.

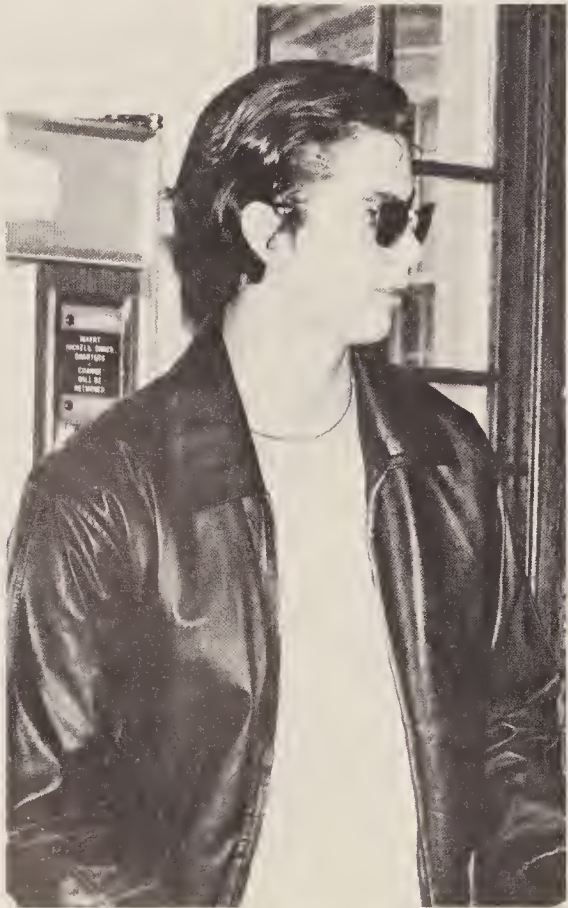

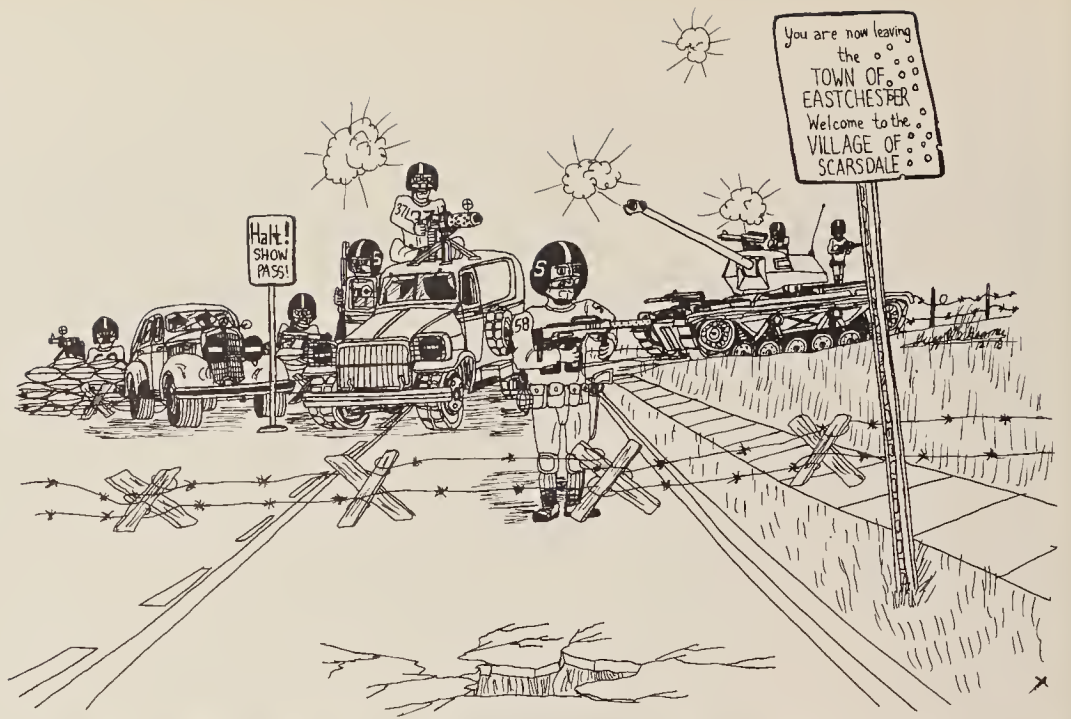

ROW 1: A. Bronstein, M. Agoston, H. Stamis, B. Pollak, J. Daitch. ROW 2: P. Goldschmidt, R. Martin, G. Walker, J. Abelman, P. Krupman, J. Schultz, R. Sklar, E. Goldstein.

With an air of self-confidence, he enters the English classroom. When the teacher announces a surprise test on last night's homework, the entire class groans, except our friend, who did the assignment first period. But when the teacher hands out the test, self-confidence turns to hopelessness, as his eyes read the top line of writing: "Test on Moby Dick." Then, he remembers that the class finished Othello yesterday! In desperation, he scribbles out a note at the top of the page — "Dear Sir, you are the nicest, kindest, smartest, most sympathetic teacher I have ever had and I know that you will excuse me for . . ." He leaves the room, fearing that he may never get into Harvard with a D in English.

ROW 1: D. Kuba, R. Badola, D. Corwin, J. Brenner, J. Hart, C. Soling, J. Daitch, B. Pollak. ROW 2: R. Catania, D. Schwartz, M. Cerniglia, A. Moretti, A. Pike, R. Raab, J. Gorham, S. Malina, J. ROW 1: A. Lituchy, M. Lederman, D. Robinson, D. Wygant, W. Johnson.
ROW 2: M. Marzullo, B. Miller, J. Gelles. ROW 3: V. Barni, L. Molloy, R. Balancia.

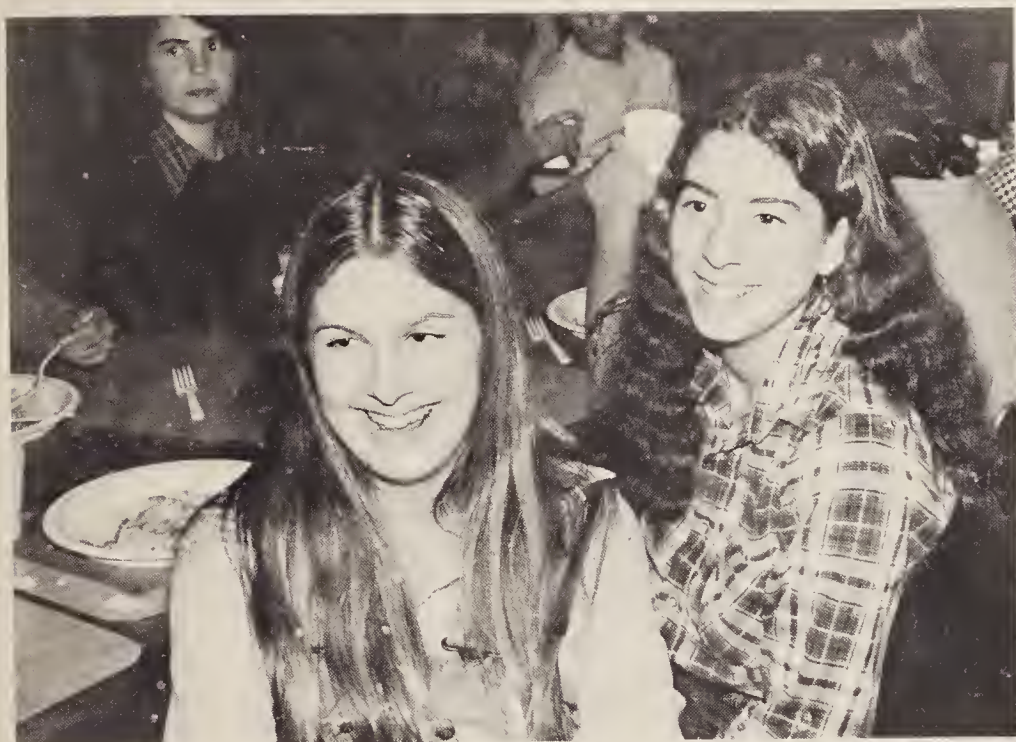

One year ago, fifth period free meant relatively little to the average junior. Now that he drives, however, fifth free means Young's Cheap Deli time. The famous roast beef wedge is known school-wide, and today he will enjoy attacking one. Oh, what bliss! Oh, what ecstasy! Oh, my God . . . no money! The only remedy seems to be inviting someone who appears to be in a money-lending mood. Shouldn't be a problem; who could turn down an invitation like that?

Sixth period on Friday is long enough — having a test in American History is cruel and unusual punishment. He studied four of five possible essay questions, and today he loses out to Murphy's Law. One piece of imagination seems promising, though, and he writes six pages of deflated prose, ending the paper with a scribbled "Time . . ." five minutes before the bell rings. Friday, the week, and school (temporarily) are over.

ROW 1: J. Silverberg, K. Spencer, L. Wasserman, J. Spector, E. Reynolds. ROW 2: W. Weisman, K. Margolies, S. Carter, D. Katzman, N. Ellis, J. Connors. ROW 3: A. Roter, M. Albert, D. Duncanson, K. Kao, M. Occhicone, G. Merksamer, S. Campbell, N. Mehta, E. Strong, R. Schlesinger, B. Weiler, K. Barnett, R. Raab, R. Breakstone, S. Bricker, L. Beck, P. Herrmann.

SENIORS

After four years of "graduation," from the cafeteria to Young's to Pizza & Brew to Danny's, the time has come to graduate. A last-minute flurry of activities throws us together into a state of unity that is indescribable and sadly late. A year's worth of sitting on top doesn't seem like enough.

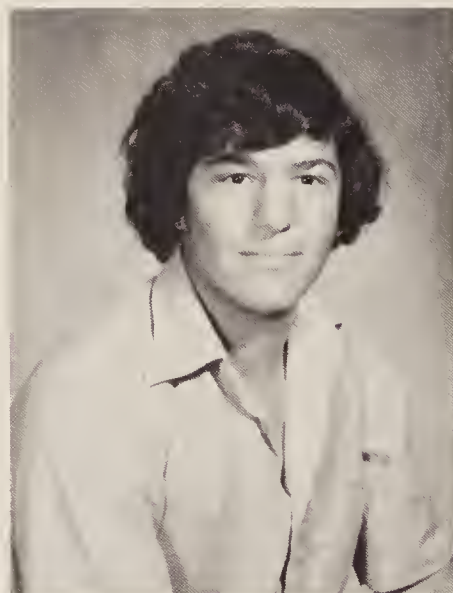

Our four years have culminated in two semesters of partying, maturation, and self-exploration. We will emerge different from the awkward freshmen we once were, but not changed; just a little bit more ourselves than before.

THE OUTING

COURSE CATALOGUE — Senior Class Outing — classes start Nov. 18, 1978

Bus Riding 312 (Saturday, 8am-10am)

Available to anyone, this entails a six-bus roce through the wilds of New Jersey; scenic tours through asphalt and oil fumes.

Advanced Lunch (Saturday, Sunday, noon) Prof. Reidenberg. Can be useful forum for the simultaneous exchange of ideas. Can be . . . Sat.: Tacos with horsemeat. Sun.: Veal cutlets with horsemeat. Jonestown Juice or Moose milk.

Revelling

411 (remediol) Begins midnight Saturday, and usually consists of inholution of porents' Monischewitz smuggled up in toothpaste tubes.

433 (intermediate) Begins shortly after dinner. Moderote oamounts ore consumed.

445 (A.P.) Begins immediately. Only for those with strong stomachs, os beginners usually try too hord.

Organized Activities Prof. Chombers Usually the "sleeper" of the Bloirstown experience, plonned octivity turns out to be quite enjoyable. (continued)

Seminars held in boating/swimming by David Cunea and masochistic trust walk by Billy Singer. Numerous pickup football and softball games always at the ready; time limited only by interest and stamina.

Dinner Prof. Jordan

Not for the faint of heart. Saturday features turkey, stuffing, mashed potatoes, and cake — not necessarily in that order, although it's anybody's guess. Sunday features roast beef with "gravy" and pudding designed to hold the weakened benches together.

Talent Show Seminar Prof. Handelman, Prof. Cahn

To fully explore the wide range of student professionalism. Topics discussed include Marc Karetzky and Janene Ribner's baogie, Russell Williams' Steve Martin, and Binky Siman's fan club. Also, a dating group will examine Jeff Steinberg's legs, the soccer team will sing constructive criticism, and Tray Engle will shake hands with his elbow.

Costume Dance I Prof. Millman

Can be taken as a minor by intermediate revellers or a major by companionship seekers. Primarily for those who don't tire easily and can hold down their dinner.

Waking Up

For all students except those in Revelling A.P.; a relatively painless procedure, involving getting out of bed and walking to breakfast. Teachers are exempt, having never gone to sleep.

Advanced Waking Up Prof. McCann

For those in Revelling A.P.; the loudest noises ever heard by man are provided. Ample time is given to discover where you fell asleep and next to whom. Some may go on to Crawling to Breakfast 311.

Breakfast ACC (Sat. & Sun., 9am-10am) Prof. D. Silver

For those on a liquid diet. Saturday features coffee and scrambled egg juice; Sunday's specialty is cream of french toast.

Physical Education (Sunday, 10am-noon, 1 pm-4:30pm) Prof. Hansen Offered especially for those who haven't thrown, caught, kicked, or run since so ordered by Mr. Rathke. Football, tetherball, basketball, and volleyball are among the electives. Exhibitions by teachers believed to be ready for retirement will shock and amaze all.

Capture the Flag (Sunday afternoon) Prof. Helgans

No prerequisites, although previous experience in canniving, broken-field running and group intimidation are useful. Class size is unlimited; students find that they fit in almost anywhere. Blue is better than yellow; continues until dusk.

Filmmaking (Sunday, 8pm) Prof. Hitchcock, Prof. Norman Bates

Course concentrates on Psyche, with some reading on Wile E. Coyote. Class is informal, and may be conducted under benches or behind tall people. Guest lecturer Prof. Sarkin will demonstrate shaking knees and closed eyes; Prof. Gersan will show practical applications of movie techniques.

Costume Dance II

Fallow-up course for those who missed the excitement of the original. Same music as Costume Dance I. Same people. Same dance.

Bonfire Seminar (Sunday, 10:45pm) Prof. Levine

The infamous "Smakey" Levine proves that two sticks rubbed together produce only a burn on the perpetrator. Huddling Class 101 is a recommended supplement; course materials include marshmallows, chocolate bars, and antifreeze.

Sunrise Semester (Sunday through Monday) Prof. Pfarzheimer

Supplementary to Stupidity 332. The philosophy of the "All-nighter" is discussed in great detail, there being little else to do except reawaken drapauts. Graduates receive honorary eyebags and headaches.

Hair Blowdrying A.P. (down) Prof. Messinger Mondotary to the Scorsdole girl's education. Discussion topics include "Did Daniel Baane have a Canair Pro-1200?" and "Can 6 plugs fit in on empty light socket?" Administered by an expert staff fram Takyo and Osaka.

Cleanup 632 (Mon., 8:30am-11am)
Exercise in dispasing of organic materials and recycling glass. Faod not eaten will be swept under steps. Sweepings will be stackpiled and burned.

Going Home 315 (Time variable)
May be completed early by up to nine students. This is the only required course given; helpful, though, ore Luggage Hunt 133, Naantime Sleeping 732, and On-bus Callapse Honors. Preparatory far Avaiding Parental Questions 224 and Total Exhaustian.

Unification 444
A subtle course, started here, which can be completed through outside activities such as senior class breakfasts, ploy, and pram. Results may be highly satisfying.

ACTIVITIES

General Organization/School Store

Although the Frank Foster Jazz Ensemble Concert was poorly attended, the General Organization continued a comeback in becoming an increasingly representative and helpful body in dealing with student problems and school unity. President Marc Gottschalk and Vice President David Stern's administration saw imagination and some degree of dedication pay off with quality activities and social work.

Dances, such as Friday Night Fever, The Last Dance, and Eccentricity, pulled in record crowds, with the attraction of live D.J.'s and live bands. The sale of G.O. cards was bolstered by the largest list of discounts in history.

The G.O. became an effective student organization by issuing G.P.A. weighing surveys, expanding the executive council to sophomores and juniors, and allowing the expanded General Council to make the major decisions they increased representation and participation. More student involvement, and student-parent programs are seen as future goals.

The School Store entered its second year of over-the-counter tooth decay, continuing to be the only G.O. function to clear a profit since the Prohibition Repeal Dance. The profits continued although gum was banned from sale, and an attempt at novelty, a refrigerator, was aborted with the unit's resale a short time later.

Jr. Class Council/Senate

Sr. Class Council

This year's Junior Class Council was perhaps one of the most active in recent years. The most successful event planned by the Council was the Class Crafts Fair, held in December, from which the class netted six hundred dollars. Frequent meetings and periodic questionnaires, sent to homerooms, provided a popular solution to the problem of what to do with the money raised. The juniors organized a class event to take place in the spring in which both a day trip and informal dance was planned.

Efforts by the Senior Class Council to unite the graduating class proved very successful. The year started out with annual events such as the Spaghetti Dinner — a collaboration of the Senior Class and A.F.S. Club — the Outing, and numerous breakfasts continued throughout the year. The council also involved the school in dances and a fund raiser for the Kathy Froelich Scholarship Fund. Ending the year, the seniors organized a two-night performance of "Once Upon A Mattress," an all-Class production.

Contrary to popular misconception, the Student-Faculty Senate is not a legislative body. Rather, it is a forum for student, teacher, and administration exchange of ideas. This year, the Senate discussed such topics as the Auditorium Bond Issue, the Blood Drive, and student-teacher relations. The Senate also revised its Constitution to provide for shorter, more frequent meetings.

SENIOR CLASS COUNCIL: ROW 1: J. Ribner. ROW 2: A. Jordan (pres.), J. Reidenberg (v. pres.), Mr. Lieneck (faculty advisor). Missing: B. Damson.

SENATE: ROW 1: Mr. Swanson, D. Stern, Ms. McGinn, J. Reidenberg, Dr. Mantz, Ms. Alpers. ROW 2: L. Galst, G. Goldstein, R. Englander, N. Shaw, D. Goldin, P. Gelman.

JUNIOR CLASS COUNCIL: ROW 1: B. Mastoloni, S. Cole, J. Pollack, K. Busby, M. Miller. ROW 2: A. Moretti, L. Kimberg, E. Reynolds, J. Brenner, J. Spindel, D. Smolover, J. Gelles, D. Palmer, M. Kirsch (advisor), F. Argani, G. Mannor, C. Danziger, S. Bloom, S. Danziger, E. Jen, S. Pederson. G. Zimmerman (Below).

The Spanish Club reigned once more as the best attended, most organized club ever to carry the banner of Señorita Fewkes. The eight-committee monolith, headed by President Bob Haroche and Vice President Martin Ottomanelle, provided the Spanish-speaking Scarsdilians with activities, diversions, and food.

La Voz, the club-sponsored Spanish newspaper, continued publication; Dance, Song, Drama and Refreshments combined to facilitate fiestas; Tutoring, Photography, and Art committees did their things.

The club sponsored two big fiestas — the Fiesta de Navidad, at Christmas, with piñata and dancing, and the Fiesta de Primavera in spring, with an authentic Spanish play. The monthly meeting attended by nearly all the 100 members, featured guest speakers, films, and cooking exhibitions. Olé?

Hebrew/Latin/Russian

RUSSIAN CLUB: ROW 1: D. Corwin, M. Singer, S. Malina. ROW 2: J. Greenberg, J. Reiser, K. Croen, J. Weinberger, C. Meeker.

The Latin and Hebrew clubs, both formed to give students an opportunity to explore the culture from which the languages originated, were both very active this year. Along with the annual field trips to museums, and periodic films, each club hosted special guest speakers here in the fall. The Latin Club audited a talk on a study of Pompeii coins, while the Hebrew Club heard former Congressional candidate Edelman talking on Congress and the Middle East. In addition to the annual activities, the 78-79 School year was filled with Social Dinners for members of both clubs.

LATIN CLUB: ROW 1: J. Brenner (pres.), M. Underweiser, C. Migliaccio, C. Jensen, D. Hanninen. ROW 2: D. Bernstein (v. pres.), T. Miller, B. Hauser, L. Cashman. MISSING: Mrs. McDonald.

HEBREW CLUB: ROW 1: L. Cashman, K. Gutwillig, D. Hanninen. ROW 2: H. Stoller, R. Ehrlich (v. pres.), T. Miller (pres.), S. Breidbart.

Dance/Outing

The Dance Club was founded two years ago and has grown with tremendous success. This year The Club sponsored a free dance class taught by Andrea Brown, and a special meeting, which allowed members to teach others their favorite dances. With the growing interest in dance, The Dance Club hopes to attract even more members next year.

how special your relationship is with my little friend and I can only say this — realizing it, cherish it, always if together or apart. Love + xxx's, Ellen

The Scarsdale High School Outing Club, organized to enable students to appreciate the outdoors, enjoyed an eventful year. Along with its annual orienteering trips, along courses distancing between five and ten miles, club president Alan Dulit and advisor Larry Davis planned numerous activities involving hiking, biking and water polo. During the two most recent vacations the club members "roughed it," cross-country skiing February in upstate New York, and backpacking in The Smokey Mountains in the spring.

Intramural Soccer/Paddle/Winter Running

PADDLE CLUB: ROW 1: A. Feigin, L. Mintzer. ROW 2: D. Finegold, S. Bloom, D. McCabe, R. Molot.

Prior to the winter of 1978-1979, platform tennis existed at Scarsdale High School only as a school club. This year, however, Scarsdale joined admittance to the Metropolitan Inter-Club league, composed of private clubs in the area.

Over 30 doubles teams in the boys' division competed for the top three spaces on the club ladder, and the right to play on the teams.

Club presidents and team captains, Laurence Mintzer and Andy Feigin led the squad to a second-place finish in its rookie season.

On the girls' side, sophomore Ingy Olsen and senior Caroline Percopo combined to lead the girls to a second-place finish, and the team of freshman, Susan Danziger and 8th grade Suzanne Bach went undefeated.

The team expects continued success; special thanks are due to Mr. Mike Kelly of the Scarsdale Recreation Department for persistence and dedication in forming and sustaining the team.

WINTER RUNNING: ROW 1: J. Schab, A. Moretti, J. Cedarbaum, A. Fallon.

The sporting-at-heart but clumsy-at-captain's-practice find the answer to jock elitism in the Intramural Soccer Club. Every Friday, under the leadership of League Commissioner Jon Kemp, the pickup teams battled it out to determine who was the best, and who was paying. The season ended with the awarding of the 1979 Drastic Spastic trophy to everybody involved. Cheers!

Frisbee / Newcomers

NEWCOMERS:
ROW 1: T. Komatsu, J. Kim, A. Boyle, D. Goldin (sec./treas.), B. Gingrich, Y. Park, L. Gingrich, T. Sobel (pres.), C. Stoffers (v.pres.), V. Karmelic, M. Marzullo.

The Newcomers Club welcomed almost twenty new students this year to the Scarsdale community. The club, which provides introduction to the school for newcomers, started, this year, a tour service to acquaint the new students with the school and its facilities. In December an international dinner was held for club members and those who were interested in meeting them. The dinner was followed by meetings attended by members from other clubs who made the newcomers aware of the diverse extra-curricular activities available to them as Scarsdale students. President Tami Sobel pointed out the difficulty some find in entering a new school and a new community at the same time, and the help the club provides to all.

The Frisbee Club, a new addition to the Scarsdale High School ranks, was a surprisingly popular club in its rookie year. The team, captained by Rich Ehrlich, went undefeated with a record of 16 and 0. The more than twenty-five members were enthusiastic and high-spirited, and participation should continue at a heady rate.

FRISBEE: ROW 1: M. Older, D. Bernstein, R. Ehrlich (pres.), S. Bloom, D. Cantor, J. Reiser. ROW 2: R. Cannon, H. Stoller, S. Breidbart, T. Miller (v. pres.), K. Gutwillig, D. Cannon, K. Caffrey, K. Croen, A. Berdon.

Bridge/Computer/Math Team

COMPUTER CLUB: ROW 1: G. Mannor, D. Salazar, D. Wu, M. Bindow, O. Mattis, J. Goldwasser. ROW 2: B. Wu, J. Weinberger (President), M. Rubin (Secretary), C. PET (Computer), D. Schiller, K. Weinberg (Vice-President), D. Goldstein, J. Bajak.

Scarsdale High School's Math Team continued last year's winning streak by consistently earning second and first place honors throughout the year. Although the team, led by Captain Jeff Weinberger and Coach Mark, didn't match last year's victory in the Westchester — lower Connecticut Regional Competition, the team exhibited its depth as six Scarsdale team members ranked among the top fifteen in the Westchester County Interscholastic Mathematics League.

For President Jeff Weinberger and the Computer Club, the 1978-79 school year proved to be a time of great accomplishment. The club, under the direction of Mr. Kronquist, endeavors to serve the needs of the entire school and to improve the present computer system. While maintaining the explorer post at IBM, the club members helped with five sections of computer language classes. In addition, this year's ten new personal computers were partly a result of club members' effort. The Computer Club hopes next year to attain more personal computers and perhaps one mini-computer for both club and administrative purposes.

BRIDGE CLUB: ROW 1: N. Katz, P. Merke, S. Kaplan, M. Bindow, J. Cedarbaum, L. Weitzner. ROW 2: O. Mattis, B. Wu, A. Pforzheimer, S. Sterman, A. Ungar, S. Pedersen.

Debating/Outlook/Vegetarian

VEGETARIAN CLUB: ROW 1: J. Lee (pres.), K. Lynch (v. pres.), L. Ripps. ROW 2: A. Berenson, R. Ozols, C. Defendi. ROW 3: P. Shapiro, C. Sullivan, E. Gotist.

The Vegetarian Club serves the needs of the small non-meateating community in the high school. Dinners at members' houses are the featured events, later with everyone contributing a veggie dish, and later comparing recipes. Did you know six parts of a fine tree are edible?

DEBATING CLUB: ROW 1: R. Miller, N. Norris, D. Cantor, S. Bloom, S. Kaplan, R. Rosenberg, J. Edwards, G. Saltz, L. Nusbaum, E. Heimowitz.

Outlook, the students' audiovisual club, has been of service both to the school and the community. The football team and Drama contingents benefited from their videotapings of games and plays. The club teaches elementary school children to produce their own shows, and hopes to have a weekly show about Scarsdale, on the expected Cable TV.

This year's project, a film on a kindergarten class learning about handicapped children, won first prize from the New York State Advisory Council on Educational Telecommunication.

OUTLOOK: ROW 1: R. Gorham, J. Kim, J. Goodman, M. Binday, E. Schwartzberg. ROW 2: A Chien, T. Rossbach, J. Leistsnider, D. Berry (Director), K. Oestreich, M. Doering, M. Berry, J. Bajak.

PRESSBOARD: ROW 1: J. Ruth, J. Flynn (editor-in-chief), A. Hickey, L. Nusbaum, D. Stern (editor-in-chief), J. Alexander.

In 1978-79, Pressboard continued to communicate SHS news to the community at large. Guided by co-editors Jane Flynn and David Stern, Pressboard informed the community through its column in the Scarsdale Inquirer about such topics as Presidential Classroom, sexual discrimination, and special curriculum matters.

"Jabberwocky," the SHS Literary/Arts magazine, reflects student creative writing, poetry, and art work. Although often plagued by financial difficulties, the magazine has been able to combine original efforts by Alternative School students, as well as those from the high school into three issues.

County Curiosity/Equus Historical Simulation

HISTORICAL SIMULATION: ROW 1: J. Spector, R. Rosenberg. ROW 2: J. Dunne, S. Breidbart, H. Stoller (pres.), R. Ehrlich, J. Weinberger.

EQUUS CLUB: ROW 1: A. Klausner, A. Moretti, C. Danziger, E. Strong. ROW 2: S. Bloom, A. Hickey, J. Curtin, E. Eisenberg, F. Eisenberg, S. Malina.

ROW 2: B. Haroche, M. Underweiser, C. Jensen, C. Migliaccio, K. Oberhelman, C. Griffin, G. Radner, R. Ozols, H. Horner, R. Miller, M. Marzullo, E. Older.

The Scarsdale American Field Service chapter, headed by Jane Sonders, hosted three seniors: Erik Larsen (all-county soccer player), of Holeby, Denmark; Belinda Mason, of Durban, South Africa; and Vesna Karmelic Pavlov, of Arica, Chile.

AFS aims to promote world unity by exchanging students from different societies and cultures. SHSers visit foreign countries or other parts of the U.S. for up to a year to discover how people outside the protective Scarsdale boundaries enjoy themselves.

The most populous club in school, AFS holds various fund-raising events during the year, including citrus fruit and pumpkin sales, and community activities like the Spaghetti Dinner and Carnival.

A FOOTBALL SATURDAY

The parking lot was a mob scene, as I picked my way through moving cars, yelling kids, and distrustful cops and headed for the football field. I was tempted to stop at the hot dog stand, but the line was too long. I looked up at the scoreboard, and, satisfied that I hadn't missed anything, I forged through the crowd. Amidst friendly cries of, "Down in front!," and flying acorns, I finally made out a patch of friends sitting in the worst possible place. I hiked up to them.

We discussed the prospect of descending for some food and the attributes of the various cheerleaders, until a yell from the stands and a glance at the scoreboard told that we had won the game. Exultingly, we made out way back down to the parking lot.

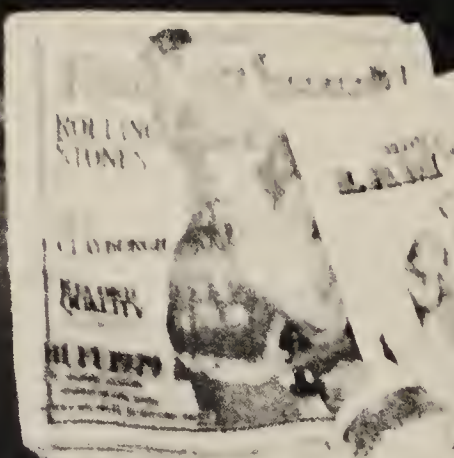

I wonder whom we played . . . ?

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

MUNCHING OUT

Flagrant disobedience of the famed "Scarsdale Diet" was the order of the year. Turkey wedges from Young's "Cheap" Deli, intergalactic pizza from the cafeteria, hot dogs at football games, or beer from just about anywhere all contributed to one of the most obese classes in history.

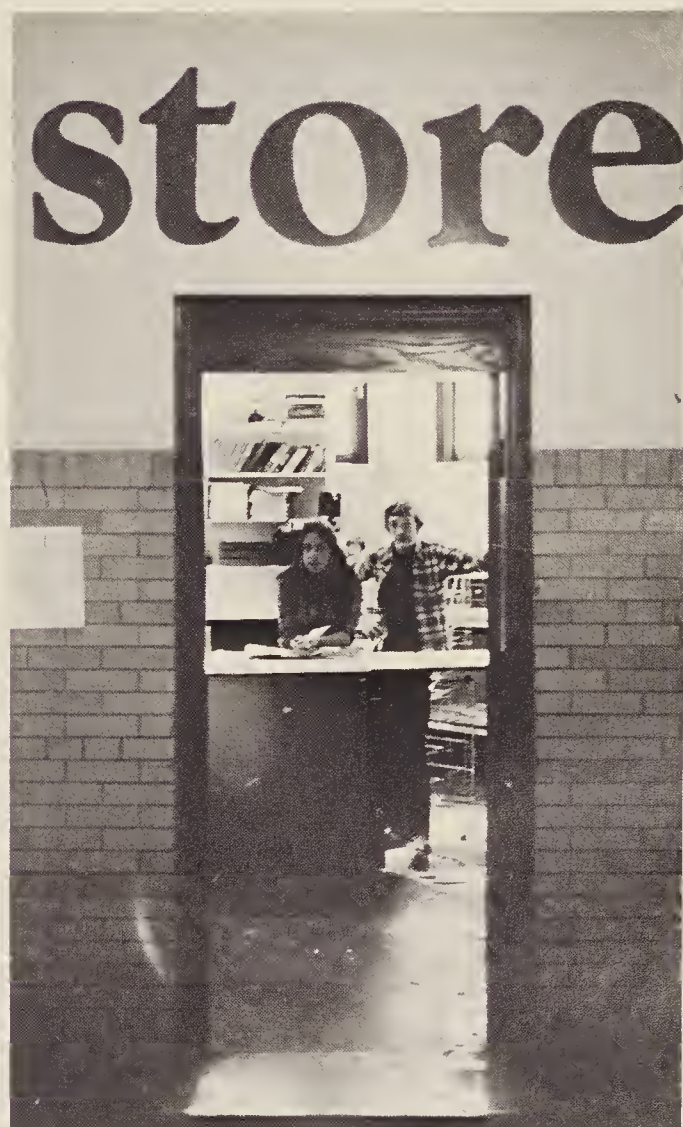

It's a nice place to visit . . .

EPICURE

I remember my first three years
Standing in that window,
And looking out on the seniors below.
I felt so far removed from the world
Which was soon to become my own.

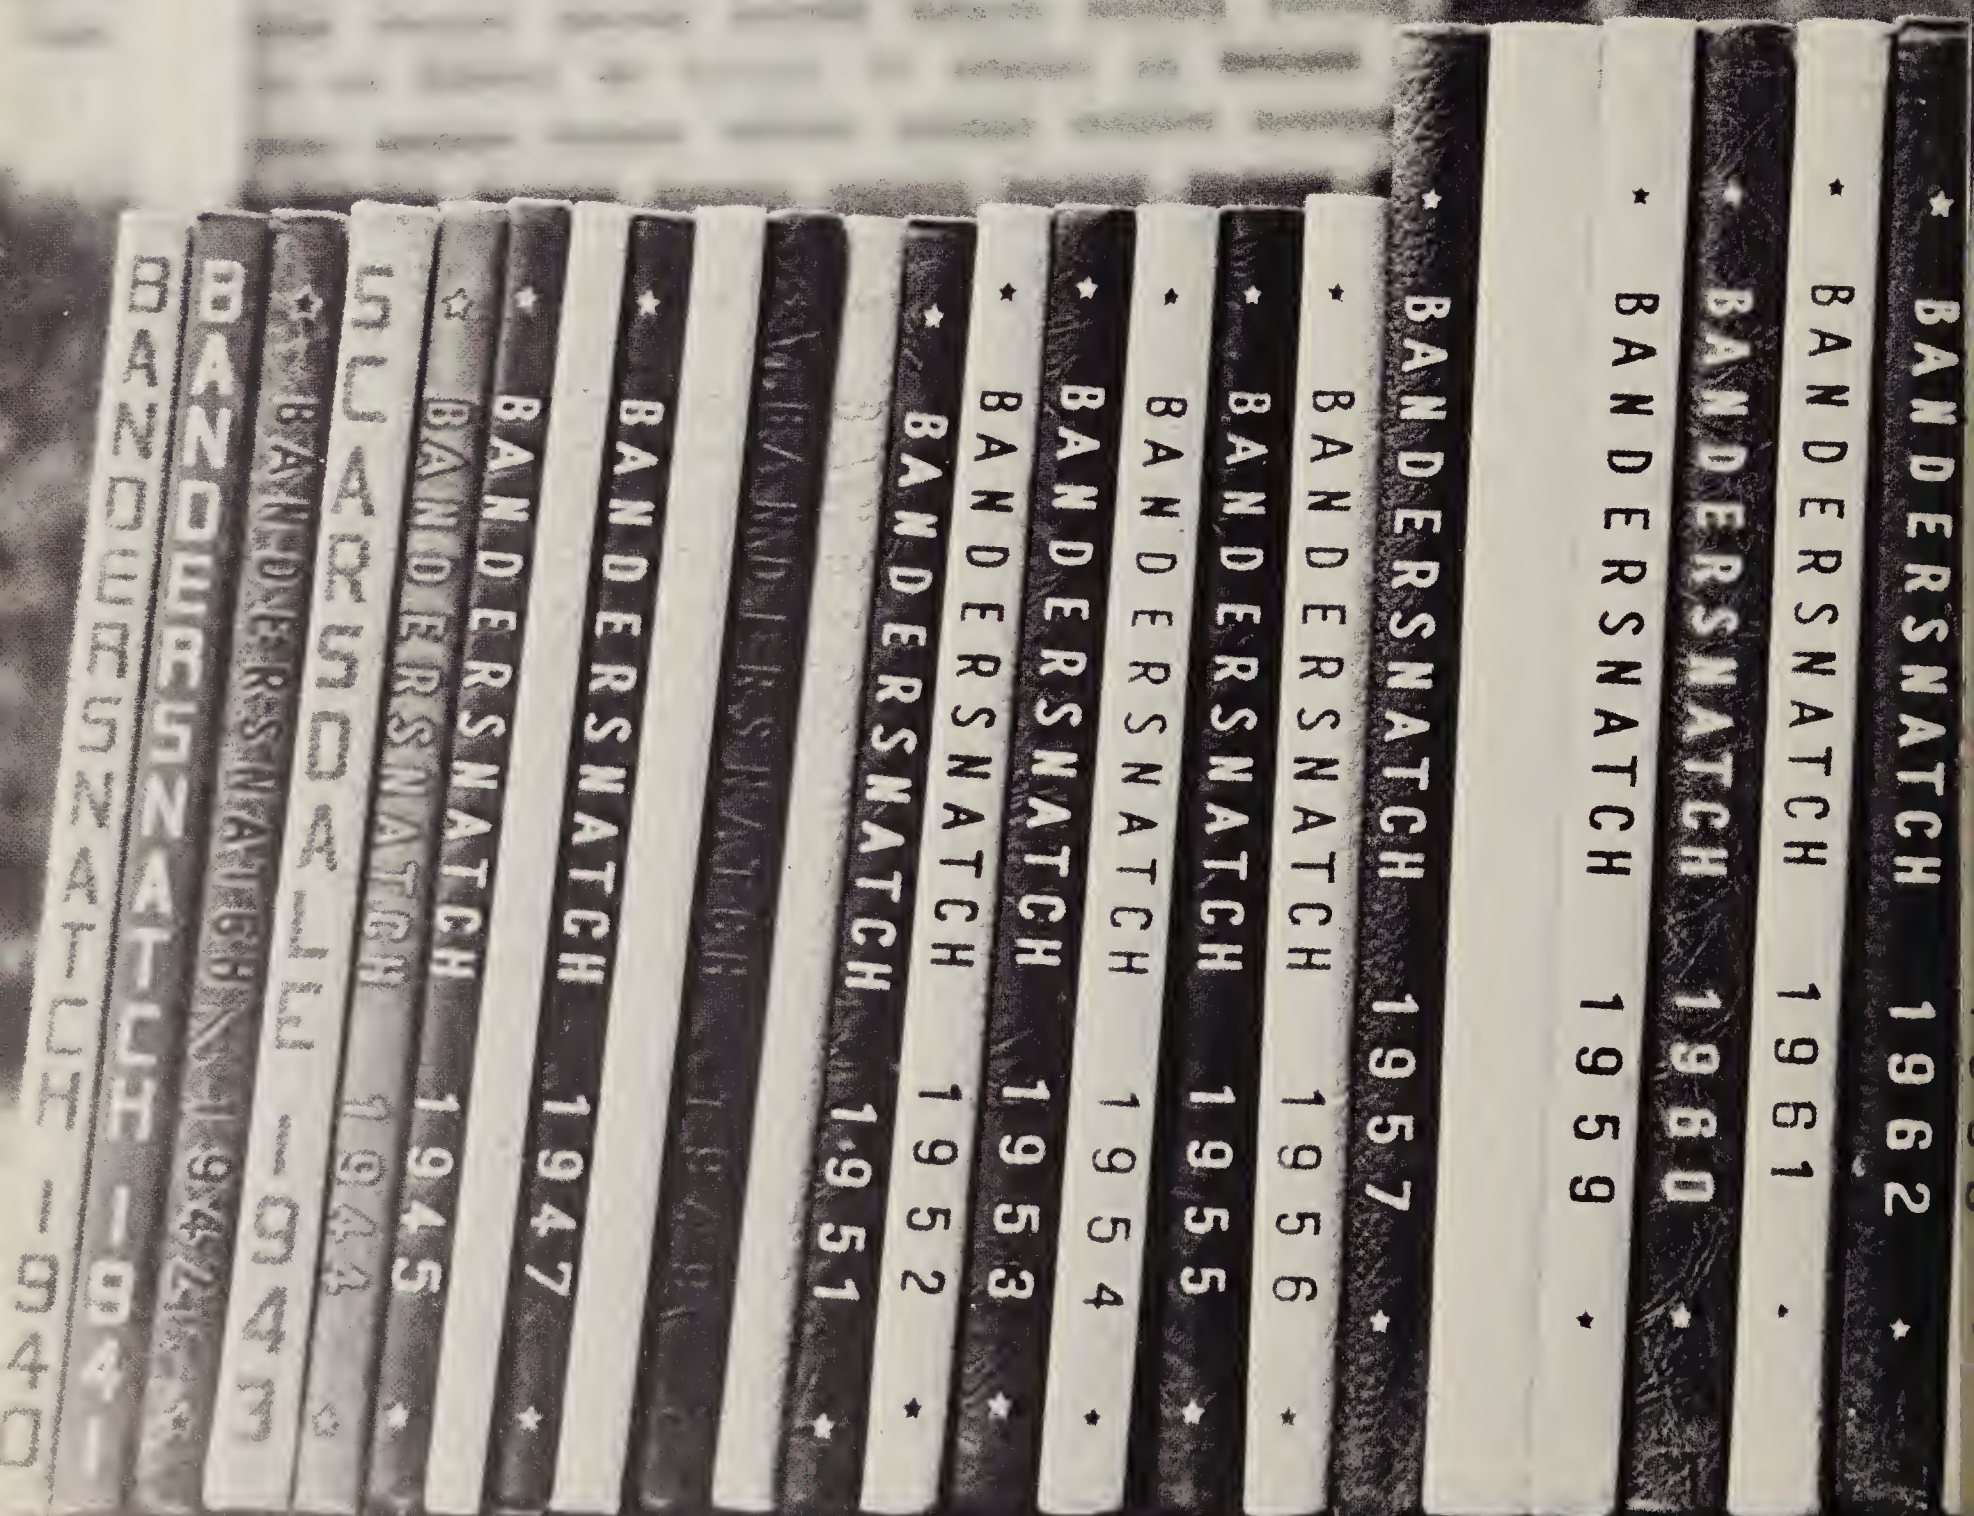

Each year I'd watch them
Congregating in the senior lot, washing cars at Brewster Road,
And signing yearbooks in the spring.
And then, as I watch them boarding buses for the outing,
I saw them leaving me and their High School years behind.

But on my last day,
When I was writing in that book,
Which I never thought would be my own,
I found a picture of me
So different from that image standing in the window.
I looked up to that special place,
Noticing the emptiness, but feeling no sorrow.
I was not leaving that world behind
Because I had already taken some of it with me.

To my Best Friend:

Maybe this is crazy... to be writing in your copy of my yearbook. Jennifer Bagg
 For as Cathy wrote in this book, yearbook signings often signify an ending, one's yet the end of high school symbolizes a beginning for us.
 It is a beginning of 34 years together at school and the start of living together (sort of) and an intense amount of time, working, living, loving, and going through all of the joys and pain and experiences of our relationship. It is a beginning of freedom and independence and it seems almost a dream to me at this point. When I think how far we've come since a girl with very short hair and a tight wing Ding-I tee shirt signed your year book at the Bearsdale Pool I am filled with awe and wonder.
 The extremes of emotion to which we have brought each other is indicative of the profound love we have for one another. From the highest throes of ecstasy to the deepest levels of sadness I have known this.

I love you both.

and it is this truth that will keep us going through the next few hundred years of late nights and benzadone and coffee and papers and exams and meet school and life. I am closing the door on one room of my life and opening the door to the next. We can only go forward - with a lifetime of love and success ahead of us. Take my hand, and together we are invincible. This is only the beginning...
